CARRANZA DEMAND BEING CONSIDERED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 1.—Carranza's latest demand that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico today was being considered by President Wilson. Word of translating the voluminous note delivered to the state department yesterday by Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate of the de facto government, was completed late last night and the communication was at once sent to the White House. The note makes about 12,000 words.

Several days are expected to elapse before this government makes a reply. The note will be formally taken up at the regular cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Officials in the state and war departments today professed ignorance of what course this government will follow. While they say that a great deal of matter in Carranza's note is intended solely for home consumption they admit that its presentation has brought about another serious situation between the two countries. What is feared here most is that while Carranza's note is being considered some overt act may be committed by one of the Mexican military commanders. A majority of the leaders now at the head of troops in northern Mexico are known as "Gringo haters." They would welcome a move by the Carranza government to expel the American forces from Mexico by force. It is feared that they may attempt to provoke such a move by attacking an American force. Such an attack, it is declared here, would throw the two countries into war at once.

HURLEY.

Hurley, June 1.—The past few days have proved not uneventful in this village. Justice Lockwood a new member of the town board, has qualified very acceptably as "Judge of Special Sessions" in two cases which have attracted much interest among the people. Both cases qualify somewhat the old saying "birds in their little nest agree," for in the large nest that is so near the village, there appears to be considerable disagreement and it would also seem that the larger the nest, the larger the disagreement. The first case was dismissed as the evidence was not sufficient to warrant a verdict of sixty days on the charge of petty larceny.

Decorations Day saw a very quiet village; some flags were hung out in honor of the day, while many of our village folks went to Kingston to see the procession; some of us remained at home attending to gardens and cleaning up work that is so late this spring on account of the backwardness of the season. In the afternoon, the ball game that had been so much talked of among the lads of the village, came off on the school grounds. The "Hurley Cubs," our local organization, met a visiting team of lads from Kingston; the game was very interesting and was viewed with much pleasure by some of our older folks, whose baseball days are way back in the good old days of long ago, when bare hands were used altogether and when the pitcher actually pitched the ball instead of throwing it as at present. We manifested our approval of all the good plays and "rooted" strongly for the home team. Both teams played well, and there was some especially fine plays on both sides. In spite of hard work, our boys were outclassed and defeated with a score of 17 to 2 against them, including a goose egg of large and lacy size. Leonard Lockwood was umpire and Aubrey Arant was scorekeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Brooklyn motored up to visit the Abram DuMont family over Decoration Day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Elmendorf and Miss Hazel Brodhead came up to the Brodhead homestead. Mrs. Elmendorf and the baby will remain for some time.

Leven Smith is home with his parents.

Miss Mabel Forrester has returned from her visit at Poughkeepsie bringing with her as her guest, Miss Johnson.

Mrs. Ironmonger and Mrs. Siam are visiting at the Charles DuMont home. Mr. Ironmonger and Mrs. Siam were here over Decoration Day. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maxon were also guests at the same home over the day.

Miss Westbrook of Kyserike is a guest of Miss Hasbrouck.

The Kline house is being made ready for early occupancy.

Preparations are being made for an interesting program for Children's Day at the church.

What kind Providence has been so kind in allaying the dust of the village streets with frequent showers, still the matter of oiling the streets is still under consideration with the Standard Oil people, who have oiled the Kingston streets so successfully it is hoped that the oil will soon be stopped.

Mr. Williams of Brooklyn spent the week end at the Hiller home.

HIGHER WAGES LESSEN OUTPUT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 1.—A serious economic loss has resulted from the general wage increases granted by employers in the United States, according to reports of a general investigation into labor conditions made by Federal Reserve agents. The reports, made public by the Federal Reserve board today, state that as the men can now get as much money by working short hours as they formerly could by working longer, they are laying off and therefore retarding production at a time when the United States is on trial to determine whether or not she can serve the world industrially.

"There is almost universal complaint," says the report from the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank, "that as wages are increased a large class of wage earners become less productive and the failure of industrial plants to make sufficient or reasonable output is preventing the realization of much, if any profit, from operations. Instead of taking advantage of the present wonderful opportunity to make large earnings they are apparently not getting much more than formerly when wages were much lower. The whole country is suffering economic loss."

From all the districts, covering the entire country, the report indicates general labor unrest which is causing grave concern to business and is cutting down production and forestalling expansion.

PRIZE IN BOOKKEEPING.

Mr. Cagano, of the Moran School, Receives Honorable Mention.

The June, 1916, issue of the American Penman, a magazine devoted to the various branches of business education, contains the following:

"The prize problem in bookkeeping submitted by Frank Brooker, C. P. A., in the May issue of the Penman, aroused interest in every state of the country. The condition of the contest limiting the time, provided that all solutions entered for a prize must be received at the office of the American Penman on or before May 15, 1916. Though the time duration of the competition was short, an unexpectedly large number of solutions were received. A number of the solutions which were in percentage markings, below 94, were of such high character in two or more of the elements entering into the contest, that they deserve more than passing notice."

The name of Santos Cagano, of the commercial department of the Moran Business School, this city, is included under the heading of "Honorable Mentioned." Mr. Cagano received also the maximum marking for neatness, and his success in this contest is a source of gratification not only to himself, but to the faculty of the Moran Business School as well.

The problem in bookkeeping marked the dividing line between double-entry bookkeeping and expert accounting, and embodied all principles relating to double entry.

HELD FOR EXAMINATION.

Whittington Smith, Colored, Tells Queer Stories to Police.

Wednesday evening Whittington Smith walked into police headquarters and told so many queer stories that Sergeant Murray had him sent to jail to be arraigned before Recorder Lang this morning. The court today sent Smith to jail for five days. During that time he will be examined as to his sanity. According to Smith's stories he has been known in this state as Walter Smith. He was sent to Albany for four months some time ago by a justice at High Falls on a charge of assault. He said that he hit another man over the head with an axe handle. "I never used a knife in my life," remarked Smith earnestly, when questioned as to what he had assaulted the man with.

WHERE THE TREE BUTCHERS DID THEIR WORK.

The basswood tree that was destroyed last week by a senseless and vicious act of vandalism stood near the corner of Crown and John streets, in front of the county building. The buttonball, which is still standing, has been threatened, although officials now say this was a "joke."

PERSHING'S TROOPS NOT IN DANGER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

El Paso, Tex., June 1.—Although there are only 12,000 United States soldiers in Mexico against a Mexican force estimated at from 30,000 to 35,000, it is firmly believed here that the Americans are in no peril despite General Venustiano Carranza's latest note demanding instantaneous withdrawal.

The opinion most commonly expressed is that "Brigadier General John J. Pershing can take care of himself and his men."

General Pershing is in command of the United States army in Mexico. For the time being the hunt for Francisco Villa, the original object of the intrusion of American forces on Mexican soil, has been lost sight of. All interest now centers upon the question:

"What will President Wilson do?" Very few people here believe that the American troops will be recalled in spite of the threat conveyed in the latest Carranza protest.

Advices received from Chihuahua City, Matamoros, Mexico City and other important cities in Mexico, state that recruiting officers of the de facto government are trying to strengthen the army, but that conditions are very grave from an economic viewpoint. The people in many districts are literally starving to death and the misery resulting from five years of insurrection have made them listless toward patriotic appeals.

General Obregon, the minister of war in the de facto government, has shown much ability in his efforts to strengthen his army, but the Mexicans lack important supplies for the equipment of an efficient army.

It was stated here today that the authorities will act with vigor against the entrance of Carranza's soldiers into the United States while in uniform. Recently a number of Mexican soldiers have been seen upon United States soil wearing the khaki of the Carranza army.

Ygnacio Enriquez has been deposed as civil governor of Chihuahua. The military authorities are in complete control although the nominal title of civil governor has been conferred upon Francisco Trevino. Trevino is a brother of the commander of the Carranza army at Chihuahua City.

SEVENTY LOST THEIR LIVES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

They Were Little Chicks Burned in Incubator Fire—Box Car of Alcohol on Fire Caused Still Alarm This Morning.

An alarm of fire was rung in at 3:49 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Box No. 114, to which the firemen responded. A lamp in an incubator owned by Richard B. Jackson on Bruyn avenue had exploded, setting the incubator on fire. Seventy little chicks in the incubator were killed.

A box car loaded with alcohol on fire on the Flatbush avenue crossing caused a still alarm to be sent in at 1:30 o'clock this morning. The quick response of the firemen prevented what might have been a serious fire. The only damage was to the top of the roof. The fire did not reach the alcohol stored in the car. It is thought sparks falling on the roof of the car set it on fire.

SHACKLETON SAFE AT PORT STANLEY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, June 1.—Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, the famous British Polar explorer, is safe at Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands but he has failed in his bold attempt to cross the Antarctic continent.

Fears over the fate of Sir Ernest were set at rest by a cablegram received here early today which stated that the explorer landed on Elephant Island in the South Atlantic on April 16, making his way from there to the Falkland Islands.

The Shackleton exploration ship Endurance was crushed by ice in Weddell Sea on October 27, 1915. She drifted amidst the floes until April 9.

When Sir Ernest left Elephant Island twenty two of his companions remained behind living in caves dug in an ice cliff.

The trip to the Falkland Islands was made in a twenty two foot open boat.

In his telegram to London Shackleton said that his companions who remained on Elephant Island were well when he departed but were in urgent need of assistance.

It has been planned to send a relief expedition after Sir Ernest in the coming summer and it was only yesterday that Premier Asquith announced in commons that the government would be asked to provide funds. This expedition will now be directed towards rescuing the 22 men on Elephant Island, it is believed.

Although Sir Ernest failed in his plan to cross the Antarctic continent and join hands with another section of his party, he may have made valuable discoveries.

There had been deep anxiety over the fate of Shackleton since March 25 when word was received that one of the two exploration ships of the Shackleton party, the Aurora, had met with disaster and had put back to port in New Zealand. The members of the expedition on the Aurora were to have been met by Shackleton, and his companions after the adventurous trip across the South Polar continent.

The chief chronological features of the Shackleton expedition were:

August 4, 1914—The Endurance left the Thames.

September 12, 1914—Sir Ernest sailed from Liverpool for South America.

October 26, 1914—The Endurance sailed from Buenos Aires.

December 30, 1914—The Aurora left Macquarie Island.

May 6, 1915—The Aurora went adrift in Ross Sea.

October 27, 1915—The Endurance crushed in Weddell Sea.

March 25, 1916—News of the Aurora received.

April 16, 1916—Shackleton lands on Elephant Island.

WAITE TO DIE EARLY IN JULY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 1.—Receiving his death sentence in the same unflinching manner in which he heard the jury's verdict of guilty, Dr. Arthur Warren Waite was today sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning July 10.

The condemned man, who for the love of Mammon committed all sorts of thievery, culminating in the murder of his wife's parents, made a dramatic speech in court today.

"I am very glad, very, very glad, that I can give my body in expiation in some small way of the things that I have done," said Waite, before Justice Shearn sentenced him. "I regret that I have nothing more than my body that I can give, and I hope that it may go on and serve for ever in any way that there may be for it to purge itself."

Waite spoke with strong tones and clear enunciation heard plainly throughout the large room. He was one of the most composed men present. When Justice Shearn asked him if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced, there was silence for a brief space. Then the convicted slayer began his dramatic recital.

"I would just like to say that I want to thank this court for the very fair and just trial that was accorded to me," Waite continued. "I also want to say that I believe that the prosecutor, Mr. Brothers, was very conscientious in doing his duty and at the same time to have been very fair to me."

"Also that my own counsel was always kind and above reproach and entirely sincere in his belief in regard to me."

"That is all I have to say."

As soon as Waite had finished, Justice Shearn pronounced sentence of death. Walter R. Deuel, Waite's counsel, made the usual formal motions for a new trial and for a dismissal. He has not filed any notice of appeal but will do so within the ten days limit.

Immediately after the proceedings, Deputy Sheriff Burke snapped the handcuffs on Waite's wrist and on his own. Waite walked with firm steps and a long swing. With one keeper accompanying him the deputy sheriff put his prisoner in a wagon and drove to the Grand Central station. They took the 11:07 train for Sing Sing, where Waite will be lodged in the death house.

Waite sat up until after midnight last night reading the Bible and writing a note to Dr. Pryor. The latter was in a cell adjoining Waite's before the latter's trial, and after confidential talks with Waite gave valuable information to the district attorney.

Waite wrote to him: "I understand that you have been criticized by fellow prisoners for any part you may have taken against me in my trial. I don't believe my forgiveness is necessary because I feel that anyone who was against me was justified."

Waite had a substantial meal this morning and afterward was visited in his cell by his brother, Frank.

TO AID DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

Membership Campaign in Rural Parts of Ulster County.

A membership campaign is about to be inaugurated throughout all of Ulster county, for the securing of members for the Ulster County branch of the State Charities' Aid Association, which is looking after the dependent and defective children in the county, through its agent, Miss Gertrude Bruyn. While a great part of this work has been, in the past, throughout sections of the county, rather than in the city, the membership of this society has been made up almost exclusively of Kingston people, who in addition to annual dues of one dollar each, have made liberal donations to the work, all of which has been heartily appreciated by the agent and auxiliary committee. There is no way of estimating the full saving to the county, and of course to the city as part of the county, through the care taken of these children, whose futures would otherwise be a burden to the community for a full generation. Much as they are appreciated, and helpful as they are, occasional donations do not sufficiently keep out the county appropriation to make the work as comprehensive and effective as it should be. The only way to accomplish this end is by having a permanent income, and that can be acquired by the forming of a large membership throughout the entire county. Further statements regarding the county campaign will be published in The Freeman shortly, and in the meantime any persons in either city or county, desiring to further the cause, should send either their dues, one dollar, or contributions to the county agent, Miss Gertrude Bruyn, whose office is at No. 74 John street, Kingston.

FURTHER RAIDS ON TREES HALTED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Everybody Dodges Responsibility for Destruction and Spirit of Jailbird Humor Seems to Prevail—Part of Scheme to Make Business for Somebody.

Following the agitation and storm of protest over the removal of the small-leaf basswood tree in front of the county building at Crown and John streets recently, the announcement in Wednesday night's Freeman that the buttonball tree remaining there was about to be sacrificed raised a fresh protest from all parts of this city, and for the present the tree will be spared.

The explanation is now made that, so far as the county officials knew anything about the matter, the tree was not to be cut down, but that Jailer Seth Jocelyn, who was authority for the statement, was "joking" in his conversation about cutting down the tree, and had no intention of furnishing misinformation. The fact however that the tree was intended to be cut down at the time the basswood was removed made Jailer Jocelyn's talk appear most plausible, especially in view of the fact that trustees from the Ulster county jail had been made use of in removing the debris of the first tree after it had been cut down by a contractor.

Jailer Jocelyn's idea of a "joke" is the idea prevailing among the jailbirds who aided in the original act of vandalism, from whom little better can be expected than to treat an act of wanton destruction of public or private property as something very humorous. It is because they hold such ideas that they are insouciantly destroy more and more of the county's property rights are usually expected of public officials—but sometimes the expectation is not realized. There has been a great deal said about this tree affair because of this fact, which gives rise to the fear that men who would wantonly destroy one tree will maliciously destroy more merely that they may enjoy the thrill that comes to such persons from realizing that they are asserting their temporary authority in a way that is disagreeable to others.

That mercenary motives were at the bottom of the whole affair which was part of a conspiracy to cut down trees in order that someone might profit by the planting of others and the replacing of bluestone walks with concrete is indicated in a letter received by The Freeman, signed with a fictitious name, defending the vandalism. That there is a venomous effort to "get even" with those who made protest is indicated in which jumps to entirely erroneous conclusions as to the identity of the persons who have written regarding the matter.

Responsibility for the removal of the first tree has not been definitely fixed on any official. Everybody ducks it. The matter of removal was discussed at a meeting of the county auditors some time ago, according to a statement made by Supervisor Philip Schantz, who is a member of county auditing board, which has charge of the present improvements and repairs to the county property on Crown street, but at that time Supervisor Schantz protested against the suggestion made by one of his associates that the tree should be cut down. Supervisor Schantz was therefore greatly surprised when he learned that it had been removed.

Evidence of removal quickly but of the scores who saw it while it was being cut down, and before its removal, the opinion is strong that there was no evidence of decay except near the top. Otherwise the tree was perfectly sound. The age of the tree appears to have been overestimated. It has been stated that the tree was an elm, instead of a basswood, and was from fifty to one hundred years old, but this is a mistake. The tree was about forty years old, and good for many years yet. The basswood is recommended strongly as a shade tree because of its rapid growth. Unlike most trees of rapid growth, the basswood does not have a short life. The tree destroyed was the native small-leafed basswood, Tilia Michauxii, according to an examination made for The Freeman by a botanist.

Many people who have visited the place where the tree stood, and have examined the buttonball tree which it was intended to remove, have asked whether anyone in town has ever noted the care with which trees are preserved in other cities of the state. In Schenectady, especial care is taken of the trees, with the result that in laying out the boulevards, avenues and streets in the newer part of the city, part of which formerly was forest land and part orchards, the streets in many places were carried around some of the giant trees which if the streets had been laid out with geometrical accuracy would have been cut down so that sidewalks and streets could be absolutely straight. In the newer business and residential sections of many other cities similar care has been exercised in the past few years and is still being shown because of the growing realization that trees are the most beautiful natural ornaments a city can have.

"I never used a knife in my life," remarked Smith earnestly, when questioned as to what he had assaulted the man with. "B. Osterhoudt" at Accord.

WHERE THE TREE BUTCHERS DID THEIR WORK.

The basswood tree that was destroyed last week by a senseless and vicious act of vandalism stood near the corner of Crown and John streets, in front of the county building. The buttonball, which is still standing, has been threatened, although officials now say this was a "joke."

PERSHING'S TROOPS NOT IN DANGER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
El Paso, Tex., June 1.—Although there are only 12,000 United States soldiers in Mexico against a Mexican force estimated at from 30,000 to 35,000, it is firmly believed here that the Americans are in no peril despite General Venustiano Carranza's latest note demanding instantaneous withdrawal.

The opinion most commonly expressed is that "Brigadier General John J. Pershing can take care of himself and his men."

General Pershing is in command of the United States army in Mexico. For the time being the hunt for Francisco Villa, the original object of the intrusion of American forces on Mexican soil, has been lost sight of. All interest now centers upon the question:

"What will President Wilson do?"

Very few people here believe that the American troops will be recalled in spite of the threat conveyed in the latest Carranza protest.

Advices received from Chihuahua City, Matamoros, Mexico City and other important cities in Mexico, state that recruiting officers of the de facto government are trying to strengthen the army, but that conditions are very grave from an economic viewpoint. The people in many districts are literally starving to death and the misery resulting from five years of insurrection have made them listless toward patriotic appeals.

General Obregon, the minister of war in the de facto government, has shown much ability in his efforts to strengthen his army, but the Mexicans lack important supplies for the equipment of an efficient army.

It was stated here today that the authorities will act with vigor against the entrance of Carranzista soldiers into the United States while in uniform. Recently a number of Mexican soldiers have been seen upon United States soil wearing the khaki of the Carranza army.

Ygnacio Enriquez has been deposed as civil governor of Chihuahua. The military authorities are in complete control although the nominal title of civil governor has been conferred upon Francisco Trevino. Trevino is a brother of the commander of the Carranza army at Chihuahua City.

SEVENTY LOST THEIR LIVES

They Were Little Chicks Burned in Incubator Fire—Box Car of Alcohol on Fire Caused Still Alarm This Morning.
An alarm of fire was rung in at 3:49 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from Box No. 114, to which the firemen responded. A lamp in an incubator owned by Richard B. Jackson on Bruyn avenue had exploded, setting the incubator on fire. Seventy little chicks in the incubator were killed.

A box car loaded with alcohol on fire on the Flatbush avenue crossing caused a still alarm to be sent in at 1:30 o'clock this morning. The quick response of the firemen prevented what might have been a serious fire. The only damage was to the top of the roof. The fire did not reach the alcohol stored in the car. It is thought sparks falling on the roof of the car set it on fire.

SHACKLETON SAFE AT PORT STANLEY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 1.—Lieut. Sir Ernest Shackleton, the famous British Polar explorer, is safe at Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands but he has failed in his bold attempt to cross the Antarctic continent.

Fears over the fate of Sir Ernest were set at rest by a cablegram received here early today which stated that the explorer landed on Elephant Island in the South Atlantic on April 16, making his way from there to the Falkland Islands.

The Shackleton exploration ship Endurance was crushed by ice in Weddell Sea on October 27, 1915. She drifted amidst the floes until April 9.

When Sir Ernest left Elephant Island twenty two of his companions remained behind living in caves dug in an ice cliff.

The trip to the Falkland Islands was made in a twenty two foot open boat.

In his telegram to London Shackleton said that his companions who remained on Elephant Island were well when he departed but were in urgent need of assistance.

It has been planned to send a relief expedition after Sir Ernest in the coming summer and it was announced that Premier Asquith authorized in commons that the government would be asked to provide funds. This expedition will now be directed towards rescuing the 22 men on Elephant Island, it is believed.

Although Sir Ernest failed in his plan to cross the Antarctic continent and join hands with another section of his party, he may have made valuable discoveries.

There had been deep anxiety over the fate of Shackleton since March 25 when word was received that one of the two exploration ships of the Shackleton party, the Aurora, had met with disaster and had put back to port in New Zealand. The members of the expedition on the Aurora were to have been met by Shackleton, and his companions after the adventurous trip across the South Polar continent.

The chief chronological features of the Shackleton expedition were:

August 4, 1914.—The Endurance left the Thames.

September 12, 1914.—Sir Ernest sailed from Liverpool for South America.

October 26, 1914.—The Endurance sailed from Buenos Aires.

December 30, 1914.—The Aurora left Macquarie Island.

May 6, 1915.—The Aurora went adrift in Ross Sea.

October 27, 1915.—The Endurance crushed in Weddell Sea.

March 25, 1915.—News of the Aurora received.

April 16, 1915.—Shackleton lands on Elephant Island.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 1.—Receiving his death sentence in the same unflinching manner in which he heard the jury's verdict of guilty, Dr. Arthur Warren Waite was today sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning July 10.

The condemned man, who for the love of Mammon committed all sorts of thievery, culminating in the murder of his wife's parents, made a dramatic speech in court today.

"I am very glad, very, very glad, that I can give my body in expiation in some small way of the things that I have done," said Waite, before Justice Shearn sentenced him. "I regret that I have nothing more than my body that I can give, and I hope that it may go on and serve for ever in any way that there may be for it to purge itself."

Waite spoke with strong tones and clear enunciation heard plainly throughout the large room. He was one of the most composed men present. When Justice Shearn asked him if he had anything to say before sentence was pronounced, there was silence for a brief space. Then the convicted slayer began his dramatic recital.

"I would just like to say that I want to thank this court for the very fair and just trial that was accorded to me," Waite continued. "I also want to say that I believe that the prosecutor, Mr. Brothers, was very conscientious in doing his duty and at the same time to have been very fair to me."

"Also that my own counsel was always kind and above reproach and entirely sincere in his belief in regard to me."

"That is all I have to say."

As soon as Waite had finished, Justice Shearn pronounced sentence.

Walter R. Deuel, Waite's counsel, made the usual formal motions for a new trial and for a dismissal. He has not filed any notice of appeal but will do so within the ten days limit.

Immediately after the proceedings, Deputy Sheriff Burke snapped the handcuffs on Waite's wrist and on his own. Waite walked with firm steps and a long swing. With one keeper accompanying him the deputy sheriff took the 11:07 train for Sing Sing, where Waite will be lodged in the death house.

Waite sat up until after midnight last night reading the Bible and writing a note to Dr. Pryor. The latter was in charge of Waite before the latter's trial, and after confidential talks with Waite gave valuable information to the district attorney.

Waite wrote to him: "I understand that you have been criticized by fellow prisoners for any part you may have taken against me in my trial. I don't believe my forgiveness is necessary because I feel that anyone who was against me was justified."

Waite had a substantial meal this morning and afterward was visited in his cell by his brother, Frank.

TO AID DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

Membership Campaign in Rural Parts of Ulster County.

A membership campaign is about to be inaugurated throughout all of Ulster county, for the securing of members for the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities' Aid Association, which is looking after the dependent and defective children in the county, through its agent, Miss Gertrude Bruyn. While a great part of this work has been in the county, rather than in the city, the membership of this society has been made up almost exclusively of Kingston people, who in addition to annual dues of one dollar each, have made liberal donations to the work, all of which has been heartily appreciated by the agent and auxiliary committee. There is no way of estimating the full saving to the county, and of course to the city as part of the county, through the care taken of these children, whose futures would otherwise be a burden to the community for a full generation. Much as they are appreciated, and helpful as they are, occasional donations do not sufficiently eke out the county appropriation to make the work as comprehensive and effective as it should be. The only way to accomplish this end is by having a permanent income, and that can be acquired by the forming of a large membership throughout the entire county. Further statements regarding the county campaign will be published in the Freeman shortly, and in the meantime any persons in either city or county, desiring to further the cause, should send either their dues, one dollar, or contributions to the county agent, Miss Gertrude Bruyn, whose office is at No. 74 John street, Kingston.

Further Raids ON TREES HALTED

Everybody Dodges Responsibility for Destruction and Spirit of Jailbird Humor Seems to Prevail—Part of Scheme to Make Business for Somebody.
Following the agitation and storm of protest over the removal of the small-leaf basswood tree in front of the county building at Crown and John streets recently, the announcement in Wednesday night's Freeman that the buttonball tree remaining there was about to be sacrificed raised a fresh protest from all parts of this city, and for the present the tree will be spared.

The explanation is now made that, so far as the county officials knew anything about the matter, the tree was not to be cut down, but that Jailer Seth Jocelyn, who was "joking" in his conversation about cutting down the tree, and had no intention of furnishing misinformation. The fact however that the tree was intended to be cut down at the time the basswood was removed made Jailer Jocelyn's talk appear most plausible, especially in view of the fact that trustees from the Ulster county jail had been made use of in removing the debris of the first tree after it had been cut down by a contractor.

Jailer Jocelyn's idea of a "joke" is the idea prevailing among the jailbirds who aided in the original act of vandalism, from whom little better can be expected than to treat an act of wanton destruction of public or private property as something very humorous. It is because they hold such ideas that they are inside the jail. Better and higher conceptions of decency and property rights are usually expected of public officials—but sometimes the expectation is not realized. There has been a great deal said about this tree affair because of this fact, which gives rise to the fear that men who would wantonly destroy one tree will maliciously destroy more, merely that they may enjoy the thrill that comes to such persons from realizing that they are asserting their temporary authority in a way that is disagreeable to others.

That mercenary motives were at the bottom of the whole affair which was part of a conspiracy to cut down trees in order that someone might profit by the planting of others and the replacing of bluestone walkways with concrete is indicated by a letter received by The Freeman, signed with a fictitious name, defending the vandalism. That there is a venomous effort to "get even" with those who made protests is indicated in the same letter, the writer of which jumps to entirely erroneous conclusions as to the identity of the persons who have written regarding the matter.

Responsibility for the removal of the first tree has not been definitely fixed on any official. Everybody ducks it. The matter of removal was discussed at a meeting of the county auditors some time ago, according to a statement made by Supervisor Philip Schantz, who is a member of county auditing board, which has charge of the present improvements and repairs to the county property on Crown street, but at that time Supervisor Schantz protested against the suggestion made by one of his associates that the tree should be cut down. Supervisor Schantz was therefore greatly surprised when he learned that it had been removed.

Evidence of the tree which was cut down was removed quickly but of the scores who saw it while it was being cut down, and before its removal, the opinion is strong that there was no evidence of decay except near the top. Otherwise the tree was perfectly sound. The age of the tree appears to have been overestimated. It has been stated that the tree was an elm, instead of a basswood, and was from fifty to one hundred years old, but this is a mistake. The tree was about forty years old, and good for many years yet. The basswood is recommended strongly as a shade tree because of its rapid growth. Unlike most trees of rapid growth, the basswood does not have a short life. The tree destroyed was the native small-leaved basswood, Tilia Michauxii, according to an examination made for The Freeman by a botanist.

Many people who have visited the place where the tree stood, and have examined the buttonball tree which it was intended to remove, have asked whether anyone in town has ever noted the care with which trees are preserved in other cities of the state. In Schenectady, especially care is taken of the trees, with the result that in laying out the boulevards, avenues and streets in the newer part of the city, part of which formerly was forest land and which were carried around some of the giant trees which if the streets had been laid out with geometrical accuracy would have been cut down so that sidewalks and streets could be absolutely straight. In the newer business and residential sections of many other cities similar care has been exercised in the past few years and is still being shown because of the growing realization that trees are the most beautiful natural ornaments a city can have.

TABLE DELICACIES.

When a little cold farina or cream of wheat is left from breakfast mix it with finely chopped meat, using half as much meat as farina; and a beaten egg, season with salt and pepper and celery salt and divide into portions; roll into balls or cylinders, dip in egg and crumbs and place in a wire basket to fry. Serve garnished with parsley or a clove, pressed in the apple-shaped ones to represent the blossom end of the apple.

Pineapple Delight.—Heap cooked rice that has been seasoned with butter, salt and sugar on a platter and surround with shredded pineapple; over the rice and the pineapple put a generous amount of sweetened whipped cream.

Stuffed Apples.—Wash and core nice, red apples and color until tender in a thin sirup of sugar and water; then carefully remove the skin, leaving the beautiful red color on the cheek of the apple, fill with chopped pineapple and almonds and serve with whipped cream. This is a most attractive dish to set before an invalid. When you have a little lemon jelly left from a dessert heap a spoonful on lettuce with a shredded pepper (the canned red ones), and serve with a boiled or a mayonnaise dressing, making a dainty, delicious salad.

Spaghetti With Hamburg.—Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender; drain and add a pound of hamburger steak that has been seasoned with onions; season with salt and pepper, and pour over a can of highly seasoned tomatoes that have been well heated. Put into a casserole and bake one hour.

Deviled Kidneys.—Take eight lamb's kidneys, split and put butter in each hollow; mix a teaspoonful of prepared mustard, one of minced parsley, one-half a teaspoonful of beef extract, and salt and pepper to taste. Spread the mixture on the kidneys with cracker crumbs and put into the oven to bake. Baste often and cook 20 minutes.

OTHER WITNESSES TO BE CALLED

Recorder Lang in Effort to Ascertain the Truth Adjourns the Trial of John Lipscomb, Accused of Stabbing Pritchard, Until Saturday—Woman in the Case.

After hearing William Pritchard and John Lipscomb tell their side of the story of the affair at Guadagnola's saloon at Kingston Point last Saturday night which led to Pritchard being stabbed in the leg with a knife, Recorder Lang this morning adjourned the hearing until Saturday morning in order to have several persons named in the testimony present in court to give their version of the affair. Both Lipscomb and Pritchard are negroes and are employed on the brickyards.

According to Pritchard's story he and John were born and brought up together in the south and lived as neighbors. Saturday night William went to the brickyard office to get his money, but found the office closed. Later he drifted into Guadagnola's saloon where he met John, who treated him to two beers. Still later in the evening a Miss Mary Masten appeared on the scene. She refused to dance with John, who made some vile remark and William interfered. It led to John pushing William, who retaliated by pushing John, and in order to get out of John's way after pushing him, William stepped back and sprawled over a chair. He then claimed that John made the remark he would fix him and flashed a knife and started to cut William as he lay sprawled over the chair.

There is not question but William was cut deeply, for he showed the wound at the request of the court.

Another Negro Cut William.

On the other hand, John claims that he did not stab William, but the stabbing must have been done by another negro. Who the negro was who stabbed William, he did not know. He called three other negroes who were with him and who testified to leading John outside the saloon and they swore that John did not have a knife with him and that they did not see John cut William.

John when questioned as to what he had said to Miss Masten, said he had simply asked her for a dance and William came up and started to put his hand in John's pocket when John hit him. John's theory was that William was trying to get some money out of his (John's) pocket.

"Together We Stand Provided We Fall."

William said that the other evening a colored minister came down to the brickyard and wanted the two men to get together and settle the matter up. William said that "The Reverend" said that we colored people were up here north and should try and live together in peace for "together we stand provided we fall." William said that after a talk with the minister he said he was willing to meet John, but would not go up to John's boarding house, but would meet him elsewhere. Later the Reverend, John and William, did get together, but William said no agreement was reached.

Wants Other Witnesses.

Recorder Lang said that before he finally disposed of the case he would like to hear the stories of the minister and the woman in the case, and to give them an opportunity to appear in court he would adjourn the trial until Saturday morning.

SYMPHONY CONCERT ON JUNE 12

The third and last Symphony Orchestra concert for this season, will be given at the high school auditorium on the evening of Monday, June 12, and will be preceded by the public rehearsal for school children, at the same place at 4 o'clock. The hour for the public rehearsal has been set thus late in order that all school children may attend the rehearsal, even from the Ponckhookie and Wilbur schools, and that without dismissing the schools even ten minutes early, as was formerly asked, for the sake of giving the musicians a breathing space between two performances of programs which will call for such strenuous work. As has been repeatedly announced, the Symphony Society is primarily an educational institution, and is therefore willing to make necessary sacrifices that are possible in order that the school children may have the advantage of hearing such music as can be heard only through the medium of a large and efficient orchestra. The details as to program, exchange of patrons' and subscribers' tickets, etc., will appear in The Freeman.

NO MUSIC FESTIVAL UNTIL NEXT YEAR

The Kingston Symphony Society finds it necessary, intensely to its regret, to make the following public announcement: The Music Festival, for which the society and choruses have been working so earnestly, will have to be postponed until next year. Beginning with the inability of the society, unexpectedly, to secure the use of the High School Auditorium for the festival, the last of March, one set of circumstances after another has militated against the society and the giving of this year's festival, to such an extent that the society has been utterly unable to stem the tide of adverse conditions. When it was planned to give the festival in the armory, it was expected and understood that the business arrangements for this festival which should bring prestige and people to Kingston, would be taken over entirely by certain business men of the community. These men finally decided that the time was all too short to properly advertise and arrange so large an affair making it the financial success it should be in accordance with its artistic excellence that they gave up the matter for this year. Still the society hoped to hold one festival day, presenting the artists, and giving besides certain orchestral numbers, a few of the oratorio choruses which have been rehearsed during the spring.

After careful consideration of ways and means, it was found that to give even such a concert, bringing the out of town choruses here, etc., would be a financial impossibility with only two weeks in which to properly advertise the concert. This is the first time since its organization that the Symphony Society has failed to "make good," from a musical standpoint, with the public, and the society is keenly distressed that circumstances have made the present action necessary.

Another year, it expects to meet with better success, for it will ascertain in the early fall just where it can give all of its concerts and chorus rehearsals will begin in the fall, looking toward the giving of the Oratorio of Elijah with the artists which were to appear this season. At the rehearsal of the local chorus Wednesday evening, the utmost loyalty and interest was expressed and the singers assured the Symphony Society of their readiness to take up the work in the fall under Conductor George H. Muller. Many of them offered to help in creating an interest in the work during the coming summer.

In order that the patrons and subscribers whose tickets included the festival concerts may not be deprived of any privileges offered them, the Symphony Society, asks each such patron or subscriber to hold his or her ticket until next season, when they will be made good to their full money value. All chorus members present last evening decided to keep their Elijah scores, but if any who were not present wish to do otherwise, they may come to Symphony Hall next Wednesday evening, bringing their scores.

Boy Tells of Holdup.

Fred Longtoe, a young lad living at Kingston Point, told the police late Wednesday afternoon a tale of being held up and robbed of 72 cents by two brickyard negroes. He had been sent to the store to purchase groceries when held up along the way. Sergeant Hanley and Policeman Kuehn made an investigation and were unable to find any trace of the alleged holdups. They took the boy with them through the brickyards but he was unable to identify any of the men at work. His description given the police is said to have fitted any of several hundred odd negroes employed along the brickyards.

Scottish Names.

No country has experienced the difficulty arising from the commonness of one surname in a district more intensely than Scotland. With a whole country populated by Campbells, Frasers or Gordons, some more distinguishing nomenclature had to be found. And no doubt this was the chief reason why at one time men were always known by the name of their estate or farm. Dean Ramsay remembered an old cowherd who was always known as Boggy. His real name was Sandy Anderson, but he had once owned a wretched farm called Boggydoo, and he was Boggy to the day of his death.

Dancing Jacanas.

On some of the islands of the Pacific, in tropical South America, is found the beautiful bird known as the Jacana. It is famous for its so-called love dances, which are executed by the males to excite the admiration of the female birds. When the mating season approaches the Jacana will single out its favorite lady and try to win her admiration with all its bewitching maneuvers. In the dance the wings are spread and worked in such a manner that the beautiful colored feathers produce a brilliant effect.

Tulips.

Tulips come from the Levant. They grew wild in European Turkey. Lady Holland gave them to England in 1804.

Wagner a Paradox.

As an artist Wagner had unequalled genius. As a man, though generous, temperate and virtuous to an unusual degree, he also had extraordinary faults. He was egotistical and proud, prone to fierce enmities; he went to extremes in everything. A living paradox; impatient, irritable and nervous; noble and petty; never made a man more friends and more enemies. He was worshipped and hated. Taken all in all, musically he stands as the most notable figure of his age.—Dole's "Famous Composers."

Phonographic Men.

Some men are like phonographs—every day they reel off exactly the same records.

Blackbird Days.

Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 are famous at Constantinople, Brest, and along the Danube and the Rhine as "blackbird days." A curious legend says that originally all species of crickets (blackbirds) were white and that they became black because during one year in the middle ages the three days mentioned above were so cold that all the birds in Europe took refuge in the chimneys. At Brestia the three days are celebrated with a feast called "I giorni della nera," or "the feast of the transformation of the bird."

Neck of a Giraffe.

In spite of the length of the giraffe's neck there are only seven joints in it, as in that of a man.

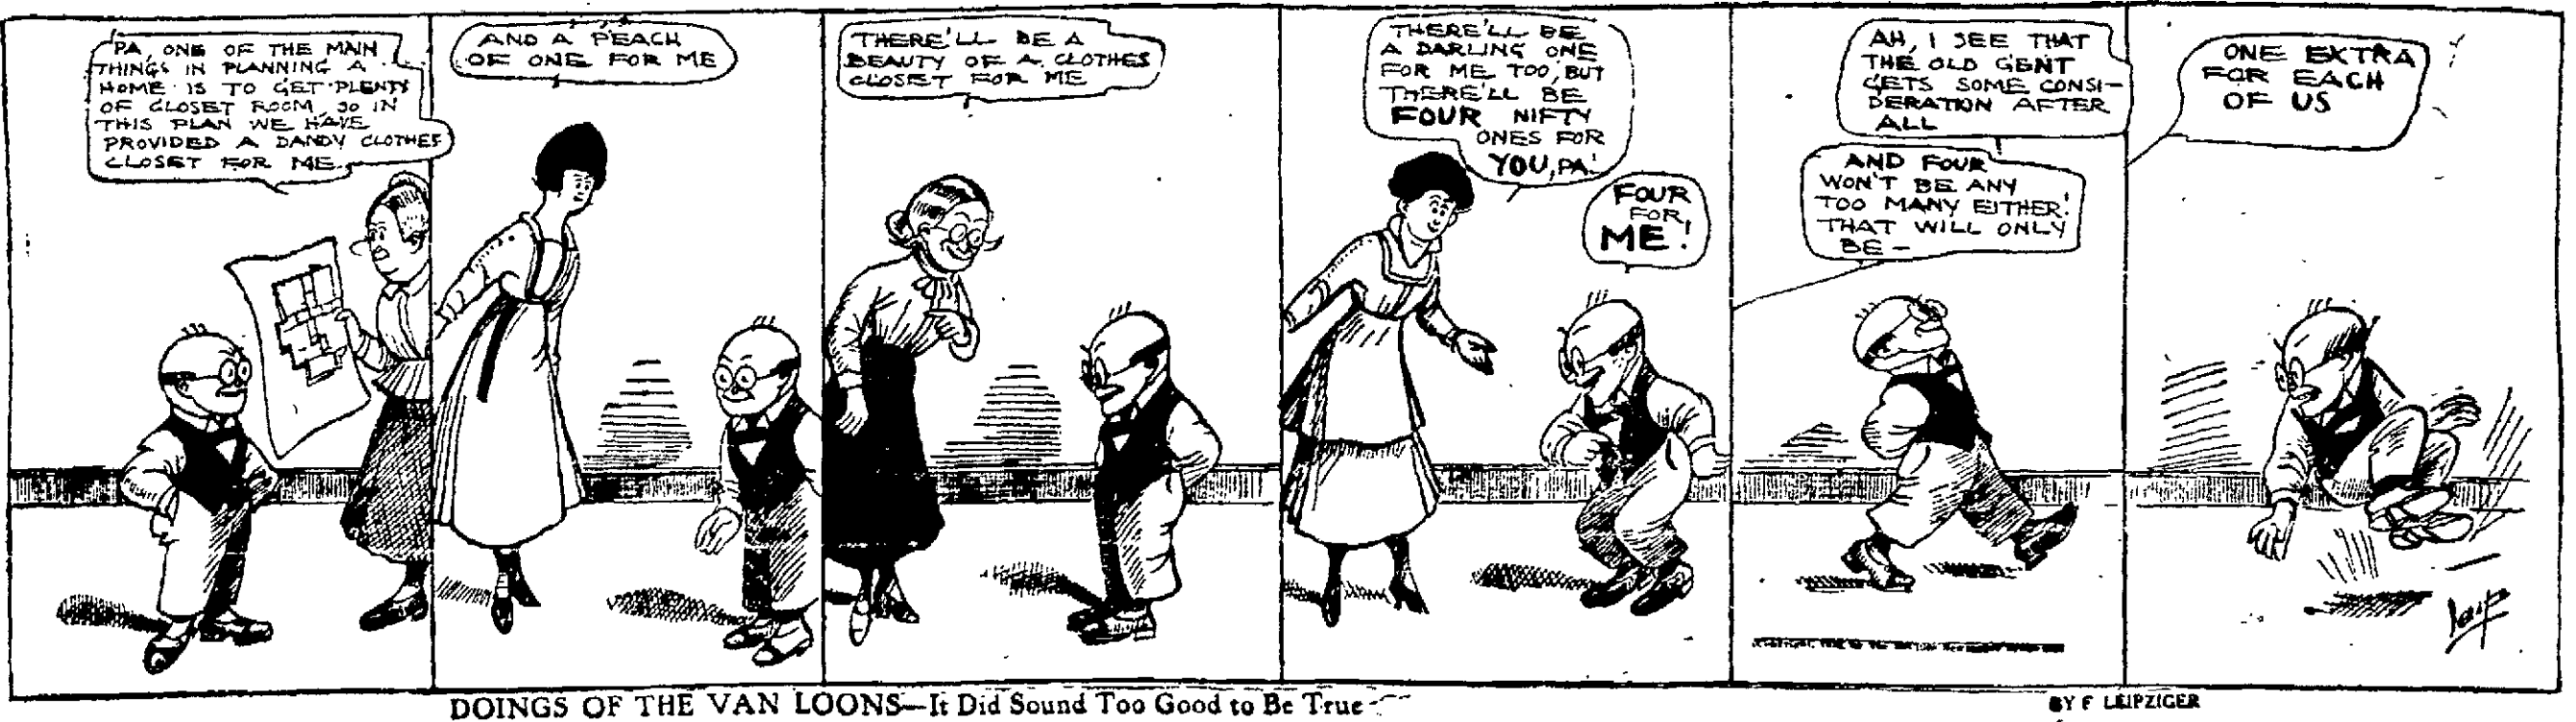

The Result.

Modern Fairy—Which do you choose for your son, wealth or wisdom? Young Mother—Wisdom. With wisdom he can obtain wealth, but with wealth he cannot obtain wisdom. Fairy—Sounds well, but have your way.

Forty years later he was familiar with science, art, literature, geography, history, etc., and could speak ten languages, but for a living he was writing a biography of Mr. Fatpurse, the great sausage maker!—London Telegraph.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Did you ever stop to think how much better it is to look ahead and prepare than to look back and regret?—R. W. Service.

The greatest truths are the simplest; so are the greatest men.—Shakespeare.

TABLE DELICACIES.

When a little cold farina or cream of wheat is left from breakfast mix it with finely chopped meat, using half as much meat as farina; and a beaten egg, season with salt and pepper and celery salt and divide into portions; roll into balls or cylinders, dip in egg and crumbs and place in a wire basket to fry. Serve garnished with parsley or a clove, pressed in the apple-shaped ones to represent the blossom end of the apple.

Pineapple Delight.—Heap cooked rice that has been seasoned with butter, salt and sugar on a platter and surround with shredded pineapple; over the rice and the pineapple put a generous amount of sweetened whipped cream.

Stuffed Apples.—Wash and core nice, red apples and color until tender in a thin sirup of sugar and water; then carefully remove the skin, leaving the beautiful red color on the cheek of the apple, fill with chopped pineapple and almonds and serve with whipped cream. This is a most attractive dish to set before an invalid. When you have a little lemon jelly left from a dessert heap a spoonful on lettuce with a shredded pepper (the canned red ones), and serve with a boiled or a mayonnaise dressing, making a dainty, delicious salad.

Spaghetti With Hamburg.—Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender; drain and add a pound of hamburger steak that has been seasoned with onions; season with salt and pepper, and pour over a can of highly seasoned tomatoes that have been well heated. Put into a casserole and bake one hour.

Deviled Kidneys.—Take eight lamb's kidneys, split and put butter in each hollow; mix a teaspoonful of prepared mustard, one of minced parsley, one-half a teaspoonful of beef extract and salt and pepper to taste. Spread the mixture on the kidneys with cracker crumbs and put into the oven to bake. Baste often and cook 20 minutes.

Reply to Challenge.

Dear Sir—We notice in one of your columns and item which issues a challenge to the Red Seals to a game of baseball for a "side bet." We wish to state that we will play the Reds but do not and will not play for money. We play the game for sport's sake and play to win. We are not "sore" and see no reason to play for money. We will set the date for Sunday, June 11, at satisfactory. Hoping this reply is favorable we remain respectfully in sports.

Hurley Cubs Defeated.
A combination of the Swift Amateurs and Bethany Stars defeated the Hurley Cubs 17-8. But for the services of Van Wageningen Hurley would have won easily. Batteries for the Kingston team Van Wageningen and Muller; for the Cubs, Hitter and Baker. Struck out by Van Wageningen, 15; by Hitter, 6.

Another mystery that will probably remain unsolved until the end of time is why a new policeman who is as slim as a jackknife when he first puts his uniform on soon acquires a paunch that gives him the appearance of a dirigible balloon. — New Orleans States.

No Rest for Mamma.
As bedtime comes and curtains fall, my irksome cares seem put to rout, as worn and weary I crawl, from my household duties tired out. But, as snug between the sheets I lie, and heavy lids have ceased to wink, from baby's crib there comes a cry, "Mamma, please let me a drink."

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 1, 1916.

The prospects are that the organized actors of the country will soon become a branch of the American Federation of Labor, thus obtaining the backing of that powerful body in their efforts to secure better pay. This announcement follows so close upon the proposal that the writers and authors of the country adopt the same policy that one becomes bewildered in trying to imagine what will come next. If actors get more pay the theatre owners will have to charge more. A fifty per cent raise would naturally raise admission to the "movies" to eight cents, and if editors, reporters and other writers get their just deserts we shudder to think of what prices would have to be exacted from subscribers and advertisers. Since everybody reads and attends theaters, the inevitable consequence would be a general raise of wages, unless the population accepted church services as a substitute. Even in that event, the clergymen might also get into the Federation, since they are laborers like anybody else, and are equally worthy of their hire. The plain truth is that it is no benefit to any man to get his wages increased if everybody else gets a raise at the same time. We are diffident about setting up as an interpreter of prophecy, but we incline to the opinion that there is now being fulfilled the prediction of Haggar that "he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes."

With a population of about 27,000, Kingston turned out more than four thousand men and boys for its preparedness parade on Memorial Day, all of whom with the exception of a few handsmen were residents of Kingston. Manhattan Borough, with a population of about a million and a half had 100,000 men and women in its recent preparedness parade, some of whom were residents of other boroughs and of adjoining states. In proportion to the population, Kingston made the better showing by 900 per cent. Military organizations are numerous in Greater New York, the danger of unpreparedness is felt there more keenly, and crowds who have more holidays than any rural section find an amusement in taking part in demonstrations of any kind. Besides, New York's parade was held on a day given over expressly for it. Kingstonians, on the other hand, gave up a holiday which many of them find is one of the few free days they have for amusement elsewhere, and the enthusiasm was lacking which accompanies a big parade which is to attract the attention of the entire country. Nevertheless, Kingston gave its men willingly to demonstrate its feeling on the subject of preparedness, and everyone who paraded enjoyed a feeling of satisfaction that comes with knowledge of a task well accomplished. It is the same spirit which has caused Kingston to send soldiers at every danger call of the country and which in the event of danger in the future would result in a willing sacrifice for the maintenance of our national unity and rights.

In these days when not only wealth but the vacant spot where wealth might be but isn't, are both devoted to gaudy show and uselessly expensive habits, it is refreshing to read the statement of Louis Hill that he can't afford to live in Chicago, and will merely continue to serve as president of the Great Northern Railroad system, with a residence at St. Paul. Hill is the son of James J. Hill, through whose efforts the Northwest was built up and he intends to continue the high standards which his illustrious father instituted. The death of the father a few days ago makes the son feel his responsibility more than usual, although he was made president of the Great Northern when he was thirty years old, which was fourteen years ago. The younger Hill, like his father, is not afraid of hard work. For five years after he left Harvard he acted as billing clerk at $75 a month. He admits that opportunities were created for him, but he underwent experiences which would make him fit to meet them successfully. Worth millions of dollars in his own right, his aim is to produce results by hard work along practical lines to which he has adapted himself. He is quoted as saying that he never subscribed to a "Who's Who,"

but would like to read an authentic book called "What's What." The life of his father would supply much of the material for such a book as the son would like, and his own career promises to furnish an intensely interesting sequel. He believes that the business of a corporation director is directing, and because he can't afford, as he says, to live in Chicago, or to get there often enough he declined the directorship of a Chicago financial institution. Probably Louis Hill is imbued with the spirit of the Northwest, a spirit of restless progress and satisfaction in accomplishment which he realizes the life of Chicago millionaires would rob him of if he joined their colony.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Why did Reverend Binks leave his charge?" "He said his parishioners were guilty of contributory negligence."—Judge.

"Your son is a product of the university, I take it?" said the polite visitor. "A sort of a by-product," Mr. Selphmade. "He was fired out of three of them."—Puck.

"Isn't your all's paw afraid of neighbors' chickens will get into your garden?" "No," replied Miss Miami Brown. "Dat's what paw broke up de ground an' scattered de seeds 'round foh."—Washington Star.

Old Gotrox—"Young man, my daughter tells me you love her. Do you wish to marry her?" Suitor (significantly)—"Well, I thought I'd see what you had to say on the subject first, sir."—Boston Transcript.

"It must be great to be a railroad engineer?" "Still clinging to your small boy ambitions, eh?" "Oh, it isn't that. I was just thinking what a joy it must be to be able to drive and not have to listen to the advice of the passengers."—Detroit Free Press.

"Why won't you let your child play with my child? Ain't my child good enough to play with your'n?" "Plenty good enough, my dear madam. But my child plays exclusively under the Montessori system, whilst your child appears to play at random, so to speak, at least, under no system that I have been able to identify."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Blames the Lawyer.

A tall, angular yellow convict was shoeing a mule under one of the many sheds when he was asked to explain what had brought him there, any way, appearing such a quiet, unobtrusive sort of citizen, he should fall from grace. "You seem to have too much sense to be here with a chain on your leg," commented the judge. "What brought you here?" "Too expensive lawyer, Judge." "A too expensive lawyer, how do you make that out?" "He want fo'teen no' dollars for perjury in my case, fo' ter free me, Judge, dan I happen ter hab at de time."—Rochester Post Express.

Showing the Difference.

"Why do we say 'Good evening' when a visitor calls, and 'Good night' when he goes?" asked Mary. "Force of habit, I presume," answers Earl; "evening and night are synonymous terms." "Well," is the conclusive rejoinder, "they may be synonymous, but I guess you would rather have the society column report say that I appeared clad in a tasteful evening gown instead of saying I was clad in a tasteful nightgown."—Harpers Magazine.

To Surprise Him.

Henry Ford was talking in Detroit about his peace campaign. "Germany," he said, "has astonished the world with her military prowess. Well, we don't want to astonish the world in any such way. We would astonish the world with our industry, our intelligence, our wealth, our happiness; but to astonish it with our militarism, that would be as bad as the hotel manager."

"A Florida hotel manager shook his fist at a guest's back and snarled:

"Curse on the blasé chump! So nothing here can astonish or impress him, eh? Our cypress swamps aren't dismal enough, our mosquitoes lack snap, our alligators are too petite, our river is a gutter, our tapon fishing is tame, our climate relaxing. Well, curse the blasé chump! I'll give him his bill tonight, and I bet he'll be astonished all right then!"—Detroit News.

No, No!

"The old are to blame for this war," said Oswald Garrison Villard at a peace conference in New York. "It is for the faults of the old—their stupidity and meanness and arrogance—that Europe's youth is offering up its life in millions on the red battlefield."

"Respect for old age is silly, anyway, unless it is the old age of a good and wise person. Old age itself is not a thing to be respected. Why, is there a person alive so foolish as to respect old age in an egg?"—New York World.

From the Trenches.

Lord Reading tells a very good story about pessimists and optimists in the trenches. "Two soldiers at the front were smoking under a tree somewhere in France," said his lordship. "This war will last a long time yet," said the first soldier. "Our company has planted rosebushes in front of our trench." "Oh you jolly optimists," said the other Tommy. "We've planted acorns in front of ours."—Christian Life.

COAL PRICES TAKE EXPECTED JUMP

Store Size Jumps 25 Cents a Ton, and Pea Size Soars 40 Cents a Ton.—July 1 All Sizes Advance 10 Cents a Ton, with 10 Cent Advances Each Month Until Sept. 1. The expected jump in the retail price of coal took place this morning when a ton of coal jumped from $6.80 a ton to $6.85 a ton delivered, while pea coal leaped from $5 a ton to $5.40 a ton delivered. There was no change in the price of egg and chestnut coal, which remains at $6.60 for egg and $6.85 for chestnut size delivered. Another sad jolt to the consumer is the fact that starting the first of July there will be a regular advance of ten cents a ton on all sizes until the first of September, when the winter price will prevail.

Probably the most surprise was caused by the leap in the price of pea coal. For a number of years pea coal has maintained a stationary price of $5 a ton delivered, winter and summer. Now pea coal is classed with the other domestic prices and forty cents has been added to the price per ton delivered with the assurance that there will be an additional advance of 10 cents a ton each month until September 1.

Stove coal, which for some years past has sold at the same price as egg coal, has been advanced until now it sells for the same price as chestnut coal.

The advance in prices is the result of the same old game of "passing the buck" which has been referred to so often in these columns. The miners desire an increase in wages and pass the "buck" to the wholesalers, who grant the increase and then in turn "pass the buck" to the retailer by increasing the wholesale price of coal, forcing the retailer to "pass the buck" on the consumer by raising the retail prices.

The advance in the price of coal in Kingston is due entirely to the fact that the wholesalers have raised the price to the retail dealer, who has only advanced the price the same amount that the wholesale price was advanced.

The usual drop in coal prices did not take place the first of April as usual owing to the disturbed conditions at the mines, and since then the winter price has been maintained. The advance in price is over the regular winter price of coal, which always dropped 50 cents a ton so it takes a little figuring to ascertain just how much of an advance the consumer really pays from now on.

The winter prices and the prices today are given below, the first column being the old prices and the second column the new figures.

A Glimpse of the Sea Bottom.
An unusual sight is attracting the attention of pedestrians today at the display window of the Mohican Company's store on Wall street where live frogs, snapping turtles, live crabs, lobsters, sea turtles, and other inhabitants of the deep are deporting themselves to the amusement of the people who stop attracted by the window display. The Mohican Company is among the leaders in sea food, and with the price of meat soaring, housewives are turning their attention to the food from the lakes, rivers and sea, which is always found fresh and at reasonable prices at the company's store.

THEY SAY.

Why a prominent resident of the lower section of the city did not make his appearance in the big preparedness parade on Decoration Day makes an interesting story as related by his many friends.

According to their story the well-known resident had announced the day before that he intended taking part in the parade, but owing to the distance covered by the marchers he intended riding a horse like a policeman. The day of the parade dawned dark and cloudy and the resident arose and attired himself in a mackintosh and a plug hat with a huge collar around his middle and called for his horse. His body guard brought the animal up, and the resident was to get aboard. The difficulty was finally solved by leading the horse up alongside a wagon and the resident climbed into the wagon and standing on the wagon seat he had no difficulty in getting on the horse's back. He then started for Broadway, and all would have gone well if it had not been for the fact of a family nearby deciding to move that day. The truck with the household goods passed the resident and he was unable to get on the horse's back. Just what caused the horse to look into the mirror is not known but he did stop and stood so suddenly that the rider fell off and landed on his plug hat in the road. The rider's friends say that the reason the horse stopped so suddenly was because he was not used to seeing a man attired in a plug hat and a mackintosh on his back. Today the would-be parader is going around with his wrist bandaged up. The plug hat while somewhat dented is still good and has been stored away for a fourth of July celebration which the mayor and the common council is arranging for.

Is Inquiring has been made by the State Civil Service Commission to County Treasurer Snyder's office for the name of the members of the Child Welfare Board of Ulster County and the list of salaried employees of the same. The Albany authorities, in effect, desire to know why list of such salaried employees have not been presented at the capitol for certification as required under the law. The answer as to salaried employees is as simple as that of the farmer at the circus who, when he saw the giraffe, declared: "There ain't no such animal!" The supervisors have never provided funds by which indigent widows with children may secure partial support.

OTHER WITNESSES TO BE CALLED

Recorder Lang in Effort to Ascertain the Truth Adjourns the Trial of John Lipscomb, Accused of Stabbing Pritchard, Until Saturday—Woman in the Case.

After hearing William Pritchard and John Lipscomb tell their side of the story of the affair at Guadagnola's saloon at Kingston Point last Saturday night which led to Pritchard being stabbed in the leg with a knife, Recorder Lang this morning adjourned the hearing until Saturday morning in order to have several persons named in the testimony present in court to give their version of the affair. Both Lipscomb and Pritchard are negroes and are employed on the brickyards.

According to Pritchard's story he and John were born and brought up together in the south and lived as neighbors. Saturday night William went to the brickyard office to get his money, but found the office closed. Later he drifted into Guadagnola's saloon where he met John, who treated him to two beers. Still later in the evening a Miss Mary Masten appeared on the scene. She refused to dance with John, who made some vile remark and William interfered. It led to John pushing William, who retaliated by pushing John, and in order to get out of John's way after pushing him, William stepped back and sprawled over a chair. He then claimed that John made the remark he would fix him and flashed a knife and started to cut William as he lay sprawled over the chair.

There is no question but William was cut deeply, for he showed the wound at the request of the court.

Another Negro Cut William.

On the other hand, John claims that he did not stab William, but the stabbing must have been done by another negro. Who the negro was who stabbed William he did not know. He called three other negroes who were with him and who testified to leading John outside the saloon and they swore that John did not have a knife with him and that they did not see John cut William.

John when questioned as to what he had said to Miss Masten, said he had simply asked her for a dance and William came up and started to put his hand in John's pocket when John hit him. John's theory was that William was trying to get some money out of his (John's) pocket.

"Together We Stand Provided We Fall."

William said that the other evening a colored minister came down to the brickyard and wanted the two men to get together and settle the matter up. William said that "The Reverend said that we colored people were up here north and should try and live together in peace for together we stand provided we fall." William said that after a talk with the minister he said he was willing to meet John, but would not go up to John's boarding house, but would meet him elsewhere. Later the Reverend, John and William, did get together, but William said no agreement was reached.

Wants Other Witnesses.

Recorder Lang said that before he finally disposed of the case he would like to hear the stories of the minister and the woman in the case, and to give them an opportunity to appear in court he would adjourn the trial until Saturday morning.

SYMPHONY CONCERT ON JUNE 12

The third and last Symphony Orchestra concert for this season, will be given at the high school auditorium on the evening of Monday, June 12, and will be preceded by the public rehearsal for school children, at the same place at 4 o'clock. The hour for the public rehearsal has been set thus late in order that all school children may attend the rehearsal, even from the Potchhookie and Wilbur schools, and that without dismissing the schools even ten minutes early, as was formerly asked, for the sake of giving the musicians a breathing space between two performances of programs which will call for such strenuous work. As has been repeatedly announced, the Symphony Society is primarily an educational institution, and is therefore willing to make necessary sacrifices that are possible in order that the school children may have the advantage of hearing such music as can be heard only through the medium of a large and efficient orchestra. The details as to program, exchange of patrons and subscribers' tickets, etc., will appear in The Freeman.

NO MUSIC FESTIVAL UNTIL NEXT YEAR

The Kingston Symphony Society finds it necessary, intensely to its regret, to make the following public announcement: The Music Festival, for which the society and choruses have been working so earnestly, will have to be postponed until next year. Beginning with the inability of the society, unexpectedly, to secure the use of the High School Auditorium for the festival, the last of March, one set of circumstances after another has militated against the society and the giving of this year's festival, to such an extent that the society has been utterly unable to stem the tide of adverse conditions. When it was planned to give the festival in the armory, it was expected and understood that the business arrangements for this festival which should bring prestige and people to Kingston, would be taken over entirely by certain business men of the community. These men finally decided that the time was all too short to properly advertise and arrange so large an affair making it the financial success it should be in accordance with its artistic excellence that they gave up the matter for this year. Still the society hoped to hold one festival day, presenting the artists, and giving besides certain orchestral numbers, a few of the oratorio choruses which have been rehearsed during the spring.

After careful consideration of ways and means, it was found that to give even such a concert, bringing the out of town choruses here, etc., would be a financial impossibility with only two weeks in which to properly advertise the concert. This is the first time since its organization that the Symphony Society has failed to "make good," from a musical standpoint, with the public, and the society is keenly distressed that circumstances have made the present action necessary.

Another year, it expects to meet with better success, for it will ascertain in the early fall just where it can give all of its concerts and chorus rehearsals will begin in the fall, looking toward the giving of the Oratorio of Elijah with the artists which were to appear this season. At the rehearsal of the local chorus Wednesday evening, the utmost loyalty and interest was expressed and the singers assured the Symphony Society of their readiness to take up the work in the fall under Conductor George H. Muller. Many of them offered to help in creating an interest in the work during the coming summer. In order that the patrons and subscribers whose tickets included the festival concert may not be deprived of any privileges offered them, the Symphony Society asks each such patron or subscriber to hold his or her ticket until next season, when they will be made good to their full money value. All chorus members present last evening decided to keep their Elijah scores, but if any who were not present wish to do otherwise, they may come to Symphony Hall next Wednesday evening, bringing their scores.

TILLSON.

Tillson, June 1.—Mrs. Arthur Christian and daughter, Dorothy, and Mrs. DeWitt Mertine and daughter, Mildred, from Schenectady, visited their uncle, Marcus Krom, this week. Miss Hattie Raymer and friend from Newburgh visited here Decoration Day.

Mrs. R. Muller and Mrs. C. Harms were in Kingston Wednesday. Mrs. Garry Van Kleek of Amsterdam is visiting relatives and friends in this place. Miss Fannie Coons visited her parents one day last week. Clarence Deyo has gone to New York city to stay with his father for some time.

One of the men stopping at Mr. Rink's on Decoration Day, had the misfortune to lose his coat. Any one finding the same would oblige him by leaving it at Rink's.

Garry Keator was taken to the hospital Monday night, where he was operated on.

Mrs. Sheffield and son, Thomas, spent a few days with her daughter this week. James H. Gallagher made a business trip to New York on Monday. The cemetery at Tillson was visited by a large number of people on Decoration Day.

Boy Tells of Holdup.

Fred Longtree, a young lad living at Kingston Point, told the police late Wednesday afternoon a tale of being held up and robbed of 72 cents by two brickyard negroes. He had been sent to the store to purchase groceries when held up along the way. Sergeant Hanley and Policeman Ruehn made an investigation and were unable to find any trace of the alleged holdups. They took the boy with them through the brickyards but he was unable to identify any of the men at work. His description given the police is said to have fitted any of the several hundred odd negroes employed along the brickyards.

Scottish Names.

No country has experienced the difficulty arising from the commonness of one surname in a district more intensely than Scotland. With a whole countryside populated by Campbells, Frasers or Gordons, some more distinguishing nomenclature had to be found. And no doubt this was the chief reason why at one time men were always known by the name of their estate or farm. Dean Ramsay remembered an old cowherd who was always known as Roggy. His real name was Sandy Anderson, but he had once owned a wretched farm called Bogendrop, and he was Roggy to the day of his death.

Dancing Jacanas.

On some of the islands of the Pacific, in tropical South America, is found the beautiful bird known as the Jacana. It is famous for its so called love dances, which are executed by the males to excite the admiration of the female birds. When the mating season approaches the Jacana will single out his favorite lady and try to win her admiration with all its bewitching maneuvers. In the dance the wings are spread and worked in such a manner that the beautiful colored feathers produce a brilliant effect.

Tulips.

Tulips come from the Levant. They grow wild in European Turkey. Lady Holland gave them to England in 1804.

Wagner a Paradox.

As an artist Wagner had unequaled genius. As a man, though generous, temperate and virtuous to an unusual degree, he also had extraordinary faults. He was egotistical and prone to fierce enmities; he went to extremes in everything. A living paradox: impatient, irritable and nervous; noble and petty; never made a man more friends and more enemies. He was worshipped and hated. Taken all in all, strangely he stands as the most notable figure of his age.—Doie's "Famous Composers"

Phenographic Men.

Some men are like phonographs—every day they reel off exactly the same records.

Blackbird Days.

Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 are famous at Constantinople. Brescia and along the Danube and the Rhine as the "blackbird days." A curious legend says that originally all species of grackles (blackbirds) were white and that they became black because during one year in the middle ages the three days mentioned above were so cold that all the birds in Europe took refuge in the chimneys. At Brescia the three days are celebrated with a feast called "I giorni della merla," or "the feast of the transformation of the bird."

Neck of a Giraffe.

In spite of the length of the giraffe's neck there are only seven joints in it, as in that of a man.

The Result.

Modern Fairy—Which do you choose for your son, wealth or wisdom? Young Mother—Wisdom. With wisdom he can obtain wealth, but with wealth he cannot obtain wisdom. Fairy—Sounds well, but have your way. Forty years later he was familiar with science, art, literature, geography, history, etc., and could speak ten languages, but for a living he was writing a biography of Mr. Fatpurse, the great sausage maker!—London Telegraph.

"Fah, waiter! How long do you keep eggs here?" "Until ate, etc."

The Boy of It.

A boy wanted a dog, and the rich uncle said: "Well, Eddie, suppose I give you two hundred dollars for a dog. Would you spend that whole sum on one dog, or would you buy a pretty good dog and put the rest of the money in the savings bank?" "Well, uncle," replied Eddie, "if you leave it to me, I would buy two hundred one-dollar dogs."

Can't Get Ahead of Plumber.

"I say," asked the wrathful customer over the telephone, "what do you mean by charging me overtime in your bill? You didn't put in any overtime on my work." "Yes, I did," replied the plumber, soothingly. "On that evening when you kept me waiting while you told me what you thought of me for putting in a full day on a two-hours' job."

All was dark so they hammered on the door, wanting to telephone to Hunter for help to come in the morning, but got no answer, notwithstanding the fact that the proprietor was in. Getting no answer there, they applied to the store for telephone service, but could not waken the sleepers there, so they betook themselves to the car where two of them slept, the other finding a bed in a neighboring house. Now there must be some sound sleepers, although others were wakened by the noise, and strangers must have a good opinion of the hospitality of this place, not to say anything of the usefulness of the hotel.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, June 1.—The rehearsal for Children's Day music has been postponed to Friday evening of this week.

Notwithstanding the rain on Sunday evening a goodly number assembled at the Methodist Church to listen to the address on "Abraham Lincoln." These were well repaid as the Rev. Hops Used as a Vegetable.

Hops, which are not recognizable in the form we use them, were eaten for themselves as a vegetable by the Romans of old, and still are by the Bavarians, who choose, rather than the blossom, the tender top shoots of the plant and prepare them in much the form of an asparagus salad.—Exchange.

BUSY BOOMERS ARE ALL AT SEA

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 1.—Political clouds gathered and hung low over Chicago today, blotting out almost entirely the ordinary course of human events. Whether they were storm or fair weather clouds the dozens of anxious politicians were unable to tell.

The opening gun of the 1916 battle was fired this forenoon when the Republican national committee met to thresh out sixty-two contested seats. The contests all were filed by southern delegates.

An air of uncertainty hung over the meeting. The rapid fluctuations of the various booms—notably those of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Justice Hughes—had the wisecracks guessing. Adding to this confusion were reports widely circulated about the hotel corridors of coalitions between several favorite son candidates, with the sole object of beating the colonel and the justice. As one politician put it: "Nobody knows where they are at."

The Republican committee admittedly is torn with conflicting emotions. No one would say definitely whether the committee as a whole desired Roosevelt, Hughes, Sherman, Fairbanks, Burton, Root, Weeks or any one man of the lesser lights. Thus was the work of weeding out the contests complicated. It was prophesied when the committee went into session that the rest of this week would be spent in deciding the factional differences.

There were several new phases injected into the general turmoil today.

One was the arrival of George W. Perkins to take the field with George von L. Meyer and Herbert L. Satterlee in the battle for Roosevelt. John McGrath, the colonel's secretary, also came to lend a hand, having left his superior at St. Louis.

Another was the arrival of Congressman William McKinley, manager of the Sherman forces, to assume the helm for the Illinois entry. The factional split in Illinois between Roosevelt and Sherman supporters is expected to prove one of the most highly colored sidelights of the entire convention.

Other big men expected to arrive today were former Senator Murray Crane, Senator Boies Penrose and some of the eastern lieutenants. William Orr, secretary to Governor Whitman of New York, also was among the arrivals.

Because of the unqualified support given the justice by Governor Whitman and the suspicion that Mr. Orr might be the bearer of important tidings, the secretary's advent into the Chicago zone of battle occasioned some interest. Thus far, Frank H. Hitchcock is the only out and out Hughes ambassador in the field here.

One development today gave the anti-Roosevelt forces much relief. That was the positive statement by the colonel's secretary that the Oyster Bay sage will not be in Chicago for the convention. He will remain at his Sagamore Hill home with his ear to the west. His numerous emissaries will keep him fully informed of the happenings.

Starting today Chicago became the center of all things political in the country. From now on and until a 1916 standard bearer is selected the battles will wage incessantly along Michigan avenue.

CORPORATION SHOWS IT HAS A SOUL

Kingston Gas and Electric Co. President Orders a Fine Arc Light for the Senate House Grounds.

Corporations may have no souls, but some Kingston corporations have sentiment. For years the nook created by the southeast angle of the old Senate House has at night been the resort of dissolute characters. Years ago the trustees of the Senate House Association sought to have the state, which owns the building, erect and maintain an electric arc light which would throw its rays into that secluded corner. The state, however, took the position that it was the duty of the city to light the Senate House grounds. When the common council was applied to the suggestion was scornfully rejected upon the ground that the state should light its own property, and thus the grounds have gone unlighted.

After Mrs. Edward Coykendall had planted shrubs and flowers in the grounds she called the attention of the trustees to the fact that unless the grounds properly were lighted the flowers and shrubs would disappear. Knowing how futile an application to the state and city authorities would be, Judge Clearwater wrote to Morris W. Stroud of Philadelphia, the Quaker president of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, explaining the situation to him, telling him that too frequently in the morning the custodian of the building had garnered a harvest of forgotten bifurcated garments, empty whiskey and beer bottles and other mementoes of revelry, and said that he, the judge, thought it would be a kindly and gracious act for the Gas and Electric Company to erect and maintain an arc light in the grounds, suspended from one of its ornamental poles. Mr. Stroud replied by return mail that the company would do that without charge as a contribution towards the beautifying of Kingston, provided the Public Service Commission would permit it to do so, the law prohibiting the furnishing of free lights except with the consent of that commission. Thereupon Judge Clearwater wrote to the Hon. Seymour Van Santvoord, president of the commission, stating the facts, and asking permission for the Gas and Electric Company to furnish the light free of charge. Mr. Van Santvoord laid the matter before the commission, which has by unanimous resolution granted the sought for permission, and hereafter the Senate House grounds will be lighted and midnight revelries, which frequently have greatly annoyed the people of the neighborhood, will cease.

HOUSE ROBBED OF $12.

Mrs. Snyder Makes Related Report of Robbery to Police.

Late Wednesday evening Mrs. Chauncey E. Snyder of No. 4 St. James street reported to the police that on Monday some one had entered her rooms and stole $12. As several days had elapsed before the robbery was reported it is hardly likely that the mystery of who stole the money will ever be solved.

Some Trouble Over 70 Cents.

This morning a local shoemaker appeared before Recorder Lang and complained that a man employed by him had converted seventy cents to his own use. The man accused was also in court and told his side of the story. The shoemaker claimed that he had sent the man to a customer with a pair of shoes that had been repaired and told him to collect seventy cents, and that he had done so but had failed to turn over the money. On the other hand the man claimed that the woman of the house offered him a dollar bill and he had no change and she said that her husband would pay the bill at the store. Recorder Lang informed the shoemaker that it would be necessary to get an affidavit from the woman regarding the circumstances before he would issue a warrant for the man's arrest.

Caught Two Big Ones.

Among the biggest trout caught in the Catskills this year were two German brown trout which were caught near Cold Brook on Wednesday by Delbert Delaney of Jersey City, N. J., who with his wife and daughter have been stopping there for several days. One trout measured 22 inches long and weighed four pounds and three ounces; the other was twenty and one-half inches long and weighed three pounds. They were taken to the Pennington studio this morning by Mrs. Delaney and photographed. This afternoon a trout dinner was served at the home of A. E. Rose of the Carl department store, who was formerly a neighbor of Mr. Delaney at Stony Point, the Rose and Delaney families enjoying the record breaking catch made by Mr. Delaney.

Public Opinion

The first taste of New Post Toasties reveals the fact that something different—something better has arrived for the breakfast table.

The secret is in the flavour—a self developed flavour of pearly white Indian corn—not the flavor of cream and sugar upon which the flakes have to depend.

And notice, too, the appearance of New Post Toasties, particularly the tiny bubbles on the surface of each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing feature—produced by the quick, intense heat of a new patented process of manufacture.

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like other flakes. They are more substantial and are altogether more satisfactory than any flakes that have preceded them.

The proof is in the eating—have your grocer send you a package.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, June 1.—The B. B.'s will meet at the home of Miss Jennie Schnall on Broadway this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

William Kelly of New York city spent Decoration Day with his mother, Mrs. Anna Kelly, on Sacket street.

Decoration Day was very fittingly observed by a parade from Port Ewen Public School No. 13 to the cemetery, where the graves of the soldiers were decorated with the American flag and flowers. The line of march was as follows: Barmann Drum Corps of Kingston, Marshal Virgil Heit, District No. 1 teacher, Miss Ruth Cookingham and scholars; superintendent of schools of this supervisor's district, John U. Gillett; District No. 14, A. C. E. Longyear, principal, Miss Roosa, assistant; members of the board of education of Districts Nos. 1 and 13; Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty; Port Ewen Lodge, No. 658, I. O. O. F.; Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias. The exercises were held in Pythian Hall. Rev. C. H. Polhemus gave a very masterly address filled with patriotism and many times during the address he was greeted with rounds of applause. Mr. Polhemus spoke of what an incentive the school children were to him and every patriot for their loyalty, faithfulness and encouragement to adherence to the principles of patriotism. He also spoke with great emphasis on the perplexing questions that are facing us with countries at war and also gave his views in a very broad sense how to overcome a great many of the obstacles now confronting us. As a whole the address was the best ever given in Pythian Hall on a like occasion.

The graduating class of Port Ewen Public School No. 13 will meet in Pythian Hall Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Every member of the class is requested to be present as important business is to be acted upon.

Miss F. Mary Conroy, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. William Malla, has returned to her home in Albany.

Fred Hinkley has accepted a position in Arkville.

Midweek prayer and praise service will be held in the Reformed and Methodist Churches this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. E. A. D. Potter has had the fence removed in front of her residence on Broadway and it presents a very fine appearance.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 1, 1916.

The prospects are that the organized actors of the country will soon become a branch of the American Federation of Labor, thus obtaining the backing of that powerful body in their efforts to secure better pay. This announcement follows so close upon the proposal that the writers and authors of the country adopt the same policy that one becomes bewildered in trying to imagine what will come next. If actors get more pay the theatre owners will have to charge more. A fifty per cent raise would naturally raise admission to the "movies" to eight cents, and if editors, reporters and other writers get their just deserts we shudder to think of what prices would have to be exacted from subscribers and advertisers. Since everybody reads and attends theatres, the inevitable consequence would be a general raise of wages, unless the population accepted church services as a substitute. Even in that event, the clergymen might also get into the Federation, since they are laborers like anybody else, and are equally worthy of their hire. The plain truth is that it is no benefit to any man to get his wages increased if everybody else gets a raise at the same time. We are confident about settling up as an interpreter of prophecy, but we incline to the opinion that there is now being fulfilled the prediction of Haggai that "he that earneth wages, earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes."

With a population of about 27,000, Kingston turned out more than four thousand men and boys for the preparedness parade on Memorial Day, all of whom with the exception of a few handmen were residents of Kingston. Manhattan Borough, with a population of about a million and a half had 100,000 men and women in its recent preparedness parade, some of whom were residents of other boroughs and of adjoining states. In proportion to the population, Kingston made the better showing by 900 per cent. Military organizations are numerous in Greater New York, the danger of unpreparedness is felt there more keenly, and crowds who have more holidays than any rural section find an amusement in taking part in demonstrations of any kind. Besides, New York's parade was held on a day given over expressly for it. Kingstonians, on the other hand, gave up a holiday which many of them find is one of the few free days they have for amusement elsewhere, and the enthusiasm was lacking which accompanies a big parade which is to attract the attention of the entire country. Nevertheless, Kingston gave its men willingly to demonstrate its feeling on the subject of preparedness, and everyone who paraded enjoyed a feeling of satisfaction that comes with knowledge of a task well accomplished. It is the same spirit which has caused Kingston to furnish soldiers at every danger call of the country and which in the event of danger in the future would result in a willing sacrifice for the maintenance of our national unity and rights.

In these days when not only wealth but the vacant spot where wealth might be but isn't, are both devoted to raucous show and useless expensive habits, it is refreshing to read the statement of Louis E. Hill, that he can't afford to live in Chicago and will merely continue to serve as president of the Great Northern Railroad system, with a residence at St. Paul. Hill is the son of James J. Hill, through whose efforts the Northwest was built up and he intends to continue the high standards which his illustrious father instituted. The death of the father a few days ago makes the son feel his responsibility more than usual, although he was made president of the Great Northern when he was thirty years old, which was fourteen years ago. The younger Hill, like his father, is not afraid of hard work. For five years after he left Harvard he acted as billing clerk at $75 a month. He admits that opportunities were created for him, but he underwent experiences which would make him fit to meet them successfully. Worth millions of dollars in his own right, his aim is to produce results by hard work alone practical lines to which he has adapted himself. He is quoted as saying that he never subscribed to a "Who's Who."

but would like to read an authentic book called "What's What." The life of his father would supply much of the material for such a book as the son would like, and his own career promises to furnish an intensely interesting sequel. He believes that the business of a corporation director is directing, and because he can't afford, as he says, to live in Chicago, or to get there often enough he declined the directorship of a Chicago financial institution. Probably Louis Hill is imbued with the spirit of the Northwest, a spirit of restless progress and satisfaction in accomplishment which he realizes the life of Chicago millionaires would rob him of if he joined their colony.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Why did Reverend Binks leave his charge?" "He said his parishioners were guilty of contributory negligence,"—Judge.

"Your son is a product of the university, I take it?" said the polite visitor. "A sort of by-product," Mr. Selphamide. "He was bred out of three of them,"—Puck.

"Isn't you all a paw afraid de neighbors' chickens will get into your garden?" "No," replied Miss Miami Brown. "Dat's what paw broke up de ground and scattered de seeds 'round foh"—Washington Star.

Old Gotrox—"Young man, my daughter tells me you love her. Do you wish to marry her?" "Sutor idem,"—"Well, I thought I'd see what you had to say on the subject first, sir,"—Boston Transcript.

"It must be great to be a railroad engineer," said a child to his father. "Oh, it isn't that. It's just thinking what a joy it must be to be able to drive and not have to listen to the advice of the passengers,"—Detroit Free Press.

"Why won't you let your child play with my child?" "Ain't my child good enough to play with your'n?" "Plenty good enough, my dear madam. But my child plays exclusively under the Montessori system, whilst your child appears to play at random, so to speak, at least, under no system that I have been able to identify,"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Blames the Lawyer.

A tall, angular yellow convict was shoeing a mule under one of the many sheds when he was asked to explain what had brought him there, any way, appearing such a quiet, unobtrusive sort of citizen, he should fall from grace. "You seem to have much sense, so be here with a chair and your leg," commented the judge. "What brought you here?" "Too expensive lawyer, Judge," "A too expensive lawyer, how do you make that out?" "He want 'tween me' dollars for perjury in my case, 'n' ter free me, Judge, dan I happen ter hab at de time,"—Rochester Post Express.

Showing the Difference.

"Why do we say 'Good evening' when a visitor calls, and 'Good night' when he goes?" asked Mary. "Force of habit, I presume," answers Earl; "evening and night are synonymous terms." "Well," is the concluding rejoinder, "they may be synonymous, but I guess you would rather have the society column report say that I appeared clad in a tasteful evening gown instead of saying I was clad in a tasteful nightgown,"—Harper's Magazine.

To Surprise Him.

Henry Ford was talking in Detroit about his peace campaign. "Germany," he said, "has astonished the world with her military prowess. Well, we don't want to astonish the world to any such way. We would astonish the world with our industry, our intelligence, our wealth, our happiness, but to astonish it with our militarism, that would be as bad as the hotel manager."

A Florida hotel manager shook his fist at a guest's back and said: "Curses on the blue chump! So nothing here can astonish or impress him, eh? Our express swamps aren't dismal enough, our mosquitoes lack snap, our alligators are too petite, our river is a gutter, our 'uppon' fishing is tame, our climate relaxing. Well, curse the blue chump! I'll give him his bill tonight and I bet he'll be astonished all right then!"—Detroit News.

No, No!

"The old ad is to blame for this war," said Oswald Garrison Villard at a peace conference in New York. "It is for the faults of the old—tact, stupidity and meanness and arrogance—that Europe's youth is off on its life in millions on the red battlefield!" "Respect for old age is still, anyway, unless it is the old age of a good and wise person. Old age itself is not a thing to be respected. Why, is there a person alive so foolish as to respect old age in an extreme?"—New York World.

From the Trenches.

Lore Reading tells a very good story about pessimists and optimists in the trenches. "Two soldiers at the front were smoking under a tree somewhere in France," said his lordship. "This war will last a long time," said the first soldier. "Our company has planted rosebushes in front of our trench. 'Oh you jolly optimists,' said the other Tommy, 'we've planted acorns in front of ours,'"—Christian Life.

MISS ROBERTS ENLIVENS COURT

Miss Frances Roberts took a prominent but not important part in the proceedings before Surrogate Gill on Wednesday, when a hearing was had in the matter of the judicial settlement of the account of Frank B. Lown of Poughkeepsie, as executor of the estate of her father, Dr. Charles H. Roberts, of Oakes, town of Lloyd.

The hearing was on objections filed by all the heirs of Dr. Roberts to the account of the executor, the particular items to which objection is made being the executor's commissions, and fees and expenses of the executor's counsel, Harry Barker of Poughkeepsie. Mr. Barker was on the witness stand most of the day, and told in detail the work he did each day in connection with the many varied phases of the Roberts litigation. His examination was conducted by the Hon. Danforth E. Ainsworth of Albany, of counsel for Mr. Lown. At one stage of the examination when Mr. Ainsworth asked whether considerable time had not been required for the examination of a certain paper, Miss Roberts suggested that since the attorney wore glasses, it probably took some time to adjust the glasses on his nose and that he charged for the time so occupied.

Frequently Miss Roberts interjected remarks that time was being wasted on certain questions as the matters under discussion had been gone into far enough, and she commented on both the questions and answers. One line of questions appeared to indicate that there remained a field of litigation which had not yet been explored, and Mr. Ainsworth announced that if litigation in that field should be entered into, he would resign from the case.

An interest in a paid-up insurance policy and quantity of stock which had been appraised as worthless were sold at auction were put up by direction of the Surrogate and were bid in by Miss Frances Roberts for $2,100. Personal papers of Dr. Roberts were also offered at auction and after spirited bidding were sold to Owen Roberts of New York city, one of the sons, for $500, with the understanding that if any of his brothers or sisters wanted the papers, they must go above his bid of $500.

COAL PRICES TAKE EXPECTED JUMP

Score Size Jumps 23 Cents a Ton, and Pea Size Soars 40 Cents a Ton—July 1 All Sizes Advance 10 Cents a Ton, with 10 Cent Advances Each Month Until Sept. 1. The expected jump in the retail price of coal took place this morning when store coal jumped from $5.60 a ton to $6.85 a ton delivered, while pea coal leaped from $5 a ton to $5.40 a ton delivered. There was no change in the price of egg and chestnut coal, which remains at $5.60 for egg and $6.85 for chestnut size delivered. Another sad jolt to the consumer is the fact that starting the first of July there will be a regular advance of ten cents a ton on all sizes until the first of September, when the winter price will prevail.

Probably the most surprise was caused by the leap in the price of pea coal. For a number of years pea coal has maintained a stationary price of $5 a ton delivered winter and summer. Now pea coal is classed with the other domestic prices and forty cents has been added to the price per ton delivered with the assurance that there will be an additional advance of 10 cents a ton each month until September 1.

Store coal, which for some years has sold at the same price of egg coal, has been advanced until now it sells for the same price as chestnut coal.

The advance in prices is the result of the same old game of "passing the buck" which has been referred to so often in these columns. The miners desire an increase in wages and pass the buck to the wholesalers, who grant the increase and then in turn "pass the buck" to the retailer by increasing the retail price of coal. Topping the retailer to "pass the buck" on the consumer by raising the retail prices.

The advance in the price of coal in Kingston is due entirely to the fact that the wholesalers have raised the price to the retail dealers, who have only advanced the price the same amount that the wholesale price was advanced.

The usual drop in coal prices did not take place the first of April as usual owing to the disturbed conditions at the mines, and since then the winter price has been maintained. The advance in price is over the regular winter price of coal, which always dropped 50 cents a ton so it takes a little figuring to ascertain just how much of an advance the consumer really pays from now on.

The winter prices and the prices today are given below, the first column being the old prices and the second column the new figures:

Egg	$6.80	$6.85
Store	6.60	6.85
Chestnut	6.85	6.85
Pea	5.00	5.40

A Glimpse of the Sea Bottom.

An unusual sight is attracting the attention of pedestrians today at the display window of the Mohican Company, 100 Wall Street, where live frogs, snapping turtles, live crabs, lobsters, sea turtles, and other inhabitants of the deep are deporting themselves to the amusement of the people who stop attracted by the window display. The Mohican Company is among the leaders in sea food, and with the price of meat soaring, housewives are turning their attention to the food from the lakes, rivers and sea, which is always found fresh and at reasonable prices at the company's store.

MOHONK DEFEATS THE BREWSTERS

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 30.—In a game played party in a drizzle, Mohonk defeated the Brewsters of Port Jervis today 11 to 1. Stoudt pitched better ball for the losers than the score would seem to indicate, the nine errors behind him being responsible for the large score against him. Churchill kept the hits off him well scattered except in the ninth inning when three hits sent over the run which saved the visitors from a shut-out. Although the game was rather uninteresting, because of being one-sided, there were several features, including the hitting of Churchill, Stoudt's catch of Blackwell's foul fly in the seventh inning, Delamater's catch of Hauck's fly and Voigt's home run.

THEY SAY.

Why a prominent resident of the lower section of the city did not make his appearance in the big preparedness parade on Decoration Day makes an interesting story as related by his many friends. According to their story the well-known resident had announced the day before that he intended taking part in the parade, but owing to the distance covered by the marchers he intended riding a horse like a policeman. The day of the parade dawned dark and cloudy and the resident arose and attired himself in a mackintosh and a plug hat with a huge sash tied around his middle and called for his horse. His body guard brought the animal up, and the problem arose as to how the resident was to get aboard. The difficulty was finally solved by leading the horse up alongside a wagon and the resident climbed into the wagon and standing on the wagon seat he had no difficulty in getting on the horse's back. He then started for Broadway, and all would have gone well if it had not been for the fact of a family nearby deciding to move that day. The truck with the household goods passed the would-be-parader and his mount and unfortunately on the back of the truck was tied a huge mirror. Just what caused the horse to look into the mirror is not known but he did and stopped so suddenly that the rider fell off and landed on his plug hat in the road. The rider's friends say that the reason the horse stopped so suddenly was because he was not used to seeing a man attired in a plug hat and a mackintosh on his back. Today the would-be-parader is going around with his wrist bandaged up. The plug hat, while somewhat dented is still good, and has been stored away for the Fourth of July celebration which the mayor and the common council is arranging for.

Inquiry has been made by the State Civil Service Commission to County Treasurer Snyder's office for the name of the members of the Child Welfare Board of Ulster County and the list of salaried employees of the same. MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 1.—The big regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 17 has degenerated into an eastern affair exclusively. The announcement that neither Leland Stanford nor University of Washington will compete has robbed it of its former international nature, and, incidentally, lessened the interest in the aquatic battle.

Rowing fans greatly regret that neither of the western crews are entered. In the past those crews always have been the "dark horses"—and the folks do love a race in which the dark ones compete. It adds much to the uncertainty of the outcome.

It was last year's dark horse—Leland Stanford—that wrote into rowing history the most thrilling chapter ever penned. As long as memory lasts, those who saw the race the Stanford boys rowed, will never forget. It was a spectacle that sent the blood coursing faster through the veins; a finish that transformed a dignified crowd into a mob of cheering madmen.

The westerners knew nothing about the science of oarsmanship, and their boat was a lumber hooker in comparison with the knife-like shells of the easterners. But they had stout hearts and strength and power in their young arms and they pitted those—and those alone—against the finely trained crews of their four eastern rivals.

They went into the race regarded as jokes by the "experts." For three miles they showed nothing but the ability to cling near the trailing position. And then they began their memorable spurt. They jabbed their blades into the water and jabbed so deeply it seemed as if they planned to uproot the river. Their boat rolled and pitched like a cork in a Chinese typhoon. They splashed to such an extent that the water cascaded over them almost continuously in that last mile dash.

But they came on and on—and over on. They jumped into third position near the three-and-one-half mile mark, into second place at the three-and-three-quarter, and then, with only a quarter of a mile to go, they started after the leading Cornellians, then several lengths to the good.

Throwing their hearts and souls and bodies and every ounce of their amazing strength into their oars, those Stanford boys raced for the leadership. From the standpoint of oarsmanship, their rowing was the worst ever seen on the Hudson. But those boys raced on while the crowd, sympathizing with those westerners, split the air with their "Come on Stanford! come on, you Stanford!"

And they came. They shot along so speedily that it seemed the Cornell crew was anchored. They zipped along the river faster than any crew ever went before. But they lost—by half a length. And the cheers of the crowd turned to groans. Such a great finish seemed to deserve victory.

Cornell's lead had been a bit too great to overcome. Had the race been a hundred feet longer, Stanford would have won by almost a length. Had it been a half mile longer, Stanford, maintaining the same clip, would have won by six or eight lengths.

Stanford, knowing almost nothing of oarsmanship, should have won that race had it timed its speed just a few minutes sooner. But it was unfamiliar with the eastern tactics and it made the fatal error of spurring just too late.

Last year's experience would have stood Stanford in good stead this time. What it learned then about timing spurts, pace-making and such would have added 50 per cent to its 1916 chances. But Stanford won't come because the expense of making the trip is too great for the meagre athletic fund to bear.

And so the big race will be a four cornered affair, with Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse and Pennsylvania fighting it out alone without encountering the peril of a western dark horse.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, June 1.—Captain John Gurney wishes to thank all those who so kindly assisted in any way during the illness and death of his wife and for the gifts of flowers.

Our pastor gave us two excellent sermons on Sunday. The subject of the morning sermon, "The Holy Catholic Church," Text Acts 15, 16 and 17. Following is a synopsis: The Holy Catholic Church has been in process of being built ever since Abraham heard the call of God to separate himself from the customs of the heathen and follow the revealed will of God. Moses and David furthered the work but built for Jews or Israel alone. Occasionally the prophets caught glimpses of God's full plan which included the residue of men. It was a great day for the world when that first Christian church council came to a conclusion by the decision of James, the presiding bishop. That the words of the text spoken centuries before by the Prophet Amos, in which he declared that David's tabernacle should be built large enough to include the people of all nations and languages, God's purposes have slowly but surely been discovered by men. We know it more fully in this century than the people who preceded us and so we can more directly and swiftly consummate it by bringing the world to know Him. He works with us. The evening theme was "Preparedness and Peace." When the strong man fully armed guardeth his own camp his goods are in peace. Luke 11:25. He said in part the danger threatening our country is divided sentiment. Preparedness may mean to avoid rather than to cause it if rightly directed by men who seek peace and preserve it. A government is of no power which cannot execute its commands for justice and right. There was special music by the choir and the church was decorated with flags appropriate for the day.

Hot Lines.

The league races are tightening up again. In the American the Indians and Nationals are tied, with the Yankees third and the Red Sox only three games behind in fourth place. In the National the Giants are a game and a half behind the Dodgers with the Phillies three and a half games behind the leaders. In the International only a game and half separates the first five clubs with Providence in first place.

The Giants took revenge on Chief Bender for the trimmings he gave them in the world's series. It was 19 out of 20 wins for McGraw's men on the trip. It winds up today and they will be back on the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Cutshaw's timely swat in the ninth inning gave the Dodgers the victory over the Braves.

The Yankees and Red Sox are coming along strong. The Athletics lowered their colors in both games of the double header to Donovan's men, while the world champions gave the Nationals a good lacing.

The Pirates and Reds batted 16 innings. The Smoky City lads had butter on their fingers and let the ball slip through.

The Tigers were outbatted by the White Sox, but their hits for extra bases won the game for them.

After drawing five goose eggs the Indians let out a war whoop and kept up the dance until they had the Browns' scalp.

Fifty-fifty with the Cardinals and Cubs.

All was dark so they hammered on the door, wanting to telephone to Hunter for help to come in the morning, but got no answer, notwithstanding the fact that the proprietor was in. Getting no answer there they applied to the store for telephone service, but could not waken the sleepers there, so they betook themselves to the car where two of them slept, the other finding a bed in a neighboring house. Now there must be some sound sleepers, although others were awakened by the noise, and strangers must have a good opinion of the hospitality of this place, not to say anything of the usefulness of the hotel.

Hops Used as a Vegetable.
Hops, which are not recognizable in the form we use them, were eaten for themselves as a vegetable by the Romans of old, and still are by the Bavarians, who choose, rather than the blossom, the tender top shoots of the plant and prepare them in much the form of an asparagus salad.—Exchange.

BUSY BOOMERS ARE ALL AT SEA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 1.—Political clouds gathered and hung low over Chicago today, blotting out almost entirely the ordinary course of human events. Whether they were storm or fair weather clouds the dozens of anxious politicians were unable to tell.

The opening gun of the 1916 battle was fired this forenoon when the Republican national committee met to thresh out sixty-two contested seats. The contests all were filed by southern delegates.

An air of uncertainty hung over the meeting. The rapid fluctuations of the various booms—notably those of Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Justice Hughes—had the wisecracks guessing. Adding to this confusion were reports widely circulated about the hotel corridors of coalitions between several favorite son candidates, with the sole object of beating both the colonel and the justice. As one politician put it: "Nobody knows where they are at."

The Republican committee admittedly is torn with conflicting emotions. No one would say definitely whether the committee as a whole desired Roosevelt, Hughes, Sherman, Fairbanks, Burton, Root, Weeks or any one man of the lesser lights. Thus was the work of weeding out the contests complicated. It was prophesied when the committee went into session that the rest of this week would be spent in deciding the factional differences.

There were several new phases injected into the general turmoil today. One was the arrival of George W. Perkins to take the field with George von Meyer and Herbert L. Satterlee in the battle for Roosevelt.

John McGrath, the colonel's secretary, also came to lend a hand, having left his superior at St. Louis. Another was the arrival of Congressman William McKinley, manager of the Sherman forces, to assume the helm for the Illinois entry. The factional split in Illinois between Roosevelt and Sherman supporters is expected to prove one of the most highly colored sidelights of the entire convention.

Other big men expected to arrive today were former Senator Murray Crane, Senator Boies Penrose and some of the eastern lieutenants. William Orr, secretary to Governor Whitman of New York, also was among the arrivals. Because of the unqualified support given the justice by Governor Whitman and the suspicion that Mr. Orr might be the bearer of important tidings, the secretary's advent into the Chicago zone of battle occasioned some interest. Thus far, Frank H. Hitchcock is the only out and out Hughes ambassador in the field here.

One development today gave the anti-Roosevelt forces much relief. That was the positive statement by the colonel's secretary that the Oyster Bay sage will not be in Chicago for the convention, due to remain at his Sagamore Hill home with his ear to the west. His numerous emissaries will keep him fully informed of the happenings. Starting today, Chicago became the center of all things political in the country. From now on and until a 1916 standard bearer is selected the battles will wage incessantly along Michigan avenue.

Kingston Gas and Electric Co. President Orders a Fine Arc Light for the Senate House Grounds.

Corporations may have no souls, but some Kingston corporations have sentiment. For years the nook created by the southeast angle of the old Senate House has at night been the resort of dissolute characters. Years ago the trustees of the Senate House Association sought to have the state, which owns the building, erect and maintain an electric arc light which would throw its rays into that secluded corner. The state, however, took the position that it was the duty of the city to light the Senate House grounds. When the common council was applied to the suggestion was scornfully rejected upon the ground that the state should light its own property, and thus the grounds have gone unlighted.

After Mrs. Edward Coykendall had planted shrubs and flowers in the grounds she called the attention of the trustees to the fact that unless the grounds properly were lighted, the flowers and shrubs would disappear. Knowing how futile an application to the state and city authorities would be, Judge Clearwater wrote to Morris W. Stroud of Philadelphia, the Quaker president of the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, explaining the situation to him, telling him that too frequently in the morning the custodian of the building had garnered a harvest of forgotten bifurcated garments, empty whiskey and beer bottles and other mementoes of revelry. He said that he, the judge, thought it would be a kindly and gracious act for the Gas and Electric Company to erect and maintain an arc light in the grounds, suspended from one of its ornamental poles. Mr. Stroud replied by return mail that the company would do that without charge as a contribution towards the beautifying of Kingston, provided the Public Service Commission would permit it to do so, the law prohibiting the furnishing of free lights except with the consent of that commission. Thereupon Judge Clearwater wrote to the Hon. Seymour Van Santvoord, president of the commission, stating the facts, and asking permission for the Gas and Electric Company to furnish the light free of charge. Mr. Van Santvoord laid the matter before the commission, which has by unanimous resolution granted the sought permission, and hereafter the Senate House grounds will be lighted and midnight revelries, which frequently have greatly annoyed the people of the neighborhood, will cease.

PRESIDENT HAUCK IS REAPPOINTED

Mayor Canfield Reappoints John Hauck a Member of Water Board For Term of Five Years.

Mayor Canfield late Wednesday filed the appointment of President Hauck of the water board for a term of five years to succeed himself as member of that board, his term having expired the last of May. Mr. Hauck's term will expire May 31, 1921. He succeeded James F. Dwyer as president of the water board, and it is likely that he will be re-elected president of the board of the annual meeting.

HOUSE ROBBED OF $12.

Mrs. Snyder Makes Related Report of Robbery to Police.

Late Wednesday evening Mrs. Chauncey E. Snyder of No. 4 St. James street reported to the police that on Monday some one had entered her rooms and stole $12. As several days had elapsed before the robbery was reported it is hardly likely that the mystery of who stole the money will ever be solved.

Some Trouble Over 70 Cents.

This morning a local shoemaker appeared before Recorder Lang and complained that a man employed by him had converted seventy cents to his own use. The man accused was also in court and told his side of the story. The shoemaker claimed that he had sent the man to a customer with a pair of shoes that had been repaired and told him to collect seventy cents, and that he had done so but had failed to turn over the money. On the other hand the man claimed that the woman of the house offered him a dollar bill and he had no change and she said that her husband would pay the bill at the store. Recorder Lang informed the shoemaker that it would be necessary to get an affidavit from the woman regarding the circumstances before he would issue a warrant for the man's arrest.

Caught Two Big Ones.

Among the biggest trout caught in the Catskills this year were two German brown trout which were caught near Cold Brook on Wednesday by Delbert Delaney of Jersey City, N. J., who with his wife and daughter have been stopping there for several days. One trout measured 22 inches long and weighed four pounds and three ounces; the other was twenty and one-half inches long and weighed three pounds. They were taken to the Pennington studio this morning by Mrs. Delaney and photographed. This afternoon a trout dinner was served at the home of A. E. Rose of the Carl department store, who was formerly a neighbor of Mr. Delaney at Stone Point, the two Delaney families enjoying the record breaking catch made by Mr. Delaney.

Public Opinion

The first taste of New Post Toasties reveals the fact that something different—something better has arrived for the breakfast table.

The secret is in the flavour—a self developed flavour of pearly white Indian corn—not the flavor of cream and sugar upon which the flakes have to depend.

And notice, too, the appearance of New Post Toasties, particularly the tiny bubbles on the surface of each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing feature—produced by the quick, intense heat of a new patented process of manufacture.

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" or crumble in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like other flakes. They are more substantial and are altogether more satisfactory than any flakes that have preceded them.

The proof is in the eating—have your grocer send you a package.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).

New York, June 1.—The big regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 17 has degenerated into an eastern affair exclusively. The announcement that neither Leland Stanford nor University of Washington will compete has robbed it of its former international nature, and, incidentally, lessened the interest in the aquatic battle.

Rowing fans greatly regret that neither of the western crews are entered. In the past those crews always have been the "dark horses" and the folks do love a race in which the dark ones compete. It adds much to the uncertainty of the outcome.

It was last year's dark horse—Leland Stanford—that wrote into rowing history the most thrilling chapter ever penned. As long as memory lasts, those who saw the race the Stanford boys rowed, will never forget. It was a spectacle that sent the blood coursing faster through the veins; a finish that transformed a dignified crowd into a mob of cheering madmen.

The westerners knew nothing about the science of oarsmanship, and their boat was a lumber hooker in comparison with the knife-like shells of the easterners. But they had stout hearts and strength and power in their young arms and they pitted those—and those alone—against the finely trained crews of their four eastern rivals.

They were into the race regarded as a joke by the "experts." For three miles they showed nothing but the ability to cling near the trailing position. And then they began their memorable sprint. They pulled their blades into the water and labored so deeply it seemed as if they planned to uproot the river. Their boat rolled and pitched like a cork in a Chinese typhoon. They splashed to such an extent that the water cascaded over them almost continuously in that last mile dash.

But they came on and on—and over on. They jumped into third position near the three-and-one-half mile mark, into second place at the three-and-three-quarter and then, with only a quarter of a mile to go, they started after the leading Cornellians, then several lengths to the good.

Throwing their hearts and souls and bodies and every ounce of their amazing strength into their oars, those Stanford boys raced for the leadership. From the start of oarsmanship, their rowing was the worst ever seen on the Hudson. But those boys raced on while the crowd, sympathizing with those westerners, split the air with their "Come on Stanford, come on, von Stanford!"

And they came. They shot along so speedily that it seemed the Cornell crew was anchored. They zipped along the river faster than any crew ever went before. But they lost—by half a length. And the cheers of the crowd turned to groans. Such a great finish seemed to deserve victory.

Cornell's lead had been a bit too great to overcome. But the race had been a hundred feet longer, Stanford would have won by almost a length. Had it been a half mile longer, Stanford maintaining the same effort, would have won by six or eight lengths.

Stanford, knowing almost nothing of oarsmanship, should have won that race had it timed its spurt just a few minutes sooner. But it was unfamiliar with the eastern tactics and it made the fatal error of sprinting just too late.

Last year's experience would have stood Stanford in good stead this time. What it learned then about timing spurs, pace-making and such would have added 50 per cent to its 1916 chances. But Stanford won't come because the expense of making the trip is too great for the meagre athletic fund to bear.

And so the big race will be a four cornered affair, with Cornell, Columbia, Syracuse and Pennsylvania fighting it out alone without encountering the peril of a western dark horse.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, June 1.—Captain John Gurney wishes to thank all those who so kindly assisted in any way during the illness and death of his wife and for the gifts of flowers.

Our pastor gave us two excellent sermons on Sunday. The subject of the morning sermon "The Holy Catholic Church." Text: 1st Cor. 12:13 and 17. Following is a synopsis. The Holy Catholic Church has been in process of being built ever since Abraham heard the call of God to separate himself from the customs of the heathen and follow the revealed will of God. Moses and David furthered the work but built for Jews.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the prophets caught glimpses of God's full plan which included the rescue of men. It was a great day for the world when that first Christian church council came to a conclusion by the decision of James, the presiding bishop. That the words of the text spoken centuries before by the Prophet Amos, in which he declared that David's tabernacle should be built large enough to include the people of all nations and languages, God's purposes have slowly but surely been discovered by men. We know it more fully in this century than the people who preceded us and so we can more directly and swiftly consummate it by bringing the world to know Him. He works with us.

The evening theme was "Preparedness and Peace." When the strong man fully armed guardeth his own court his goods are in peace. Luke 21:23. He said in part the danger threatening our country is divided sentiment. Preparedness may mean to avoid rather than to cause it; it is rightly directed by men who seek peace and preserve it. A government is of no power which cannot execute its commands for justice and right. There was special music by the choir and the church was decorated with flags appropriate for the day.

The league races are tightening up again. In the American the Indians and Nationals are tied, with the Yankees third and the Red Sox only three games behind in fourth place. In the National the Giants are a game and a half behind the Dodgers with the Phillies three and a half games behind the leaders. In the International only a game and half separates the first five clubs with Providence in first place.

The Giants took revenge on Chief Bender for the trimmings he gave them in the world's series. It was 19 out of 20 wins for McGraw's men on the trip. It winds up today and they will be back on the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Cutshaw's timely swat in the ninth inning gave the Dodgers the victory over the Braves.

The Yankees and Red Sox are coming along strong. The Athletics lowered their colors in both games of the double header to Donovan's men, while the world champions gave the Nationals a good lacing.

The Pirates and Reds battled 16 innings. The Smoky City lads had but their fingers and let the ball slip through.

The Tigers were outbatted by the White Sox, but their hits for extra bases won the game for them.

After drawing five goose eggs the Indians let out a war whoop and kept up the dance until they had the Browns' scalp.

Fifty-fifty with the Cardinals and Cubs.
